Harrison Charges George "Fanned Into Frenzy" By Mere Fact That Some one Differed With Him.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The democrats of the senate, seven of them from the southern states, brought down on their heads a severe excommunication today at the hands of Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, for having broken away from the democratic-progressive tariff coalition and voting an increase of 400 per cent in rates on synthetic camphor above those contained in the house bill.

The camphor item in itself was insignificant enough, as the Georgian senator himself admitted, but the principle involved was sufficient to envelop the chamber with fumes of castigation more pungent than anything witnessed on the democratic side since the tariff fight began.

The castigation by Senator George, one of the leaders in the opposition to the Hawley-Smoot bill, came in the face of several recent dramatic defections on the tariff issue, and for a time threatened to split the minority forces in much the manner that senate republicans have found themselves almost from the start.

It followed a similar criticism by his progressive colleague, Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, who almost came to the point of the ways with Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, one of the most active members of the democratic minority, in defending high rates of the pending bill, and one of the 12 members of his party to vote for the camphor increase.

Pressure of Money.

Declaring that democrats cannot raise their voice against the Hawley bill after voting for the 400 per cent camphor increase, Senator George rebuked his colleagues with the statement that "if some powerful interests in this country were not such great contributors to the campaign of my party, as well as to the republican party, we would be able to write tariffs on a more just basis."

The rebuke brought an immediate and hot retort from Senator Harrison. Taking the floor as Senator George concluded, Senator Harrison characterized the Georgian's criticism as a "passionate frenzy" and as a "fire of condemnation" which he said was unjustified.

Nevertheless the speech by the Georgian senator seemed to have a chastening effect, for shortly after the storm blew over the democratic-progressive coalition put up a united front again and ran roughshod over the republican regulars in certain of the chemical schedules which were under consideration.

Florida Senators Switch.

The democratic pyrotechnics started over an amendment by Senator Keane, republican, New Jersey, who sought to raise the rate on synthetic camphor, produced almost exclusively in Germany, from one cent per pound, the rate carried in the Hawley house bill, to five cents per pound. When the bill first came over from the lower body Senator Edge, of New Jersey, since made ambassador to France, succeeded in having the finance committee increase the rate to six cents per pound. But the coalition forces rejected it and restored the one-cent house rate.

Senator Keane brought up the new five-cent amendment today and had it adopted, 48 to 20, by virtue of the support of two progressives and the 12 democrats. Had the 12 democrats voted differently the amendment would have been defeated.

Those who broke away from the coalition forces included Broussard, Louisiana; Copeland, New York; Fletcher and Trammell, Florida; Harrison, Mississippi; Hawes, Missouri; Heflin, Alabama; Kendrick, Wyoming; Randall, Louisiana; Stephens, Mississippi; Wagner, New York, and Walsh, of Massachusetts, all democrats, and Pine, Oklahoma, and Schall, Minnesota, classed as progressives or independents.

The criticism of Senator George was

WARDEN TO GUARD CONVICTS NAMED

State Board Takes Control of All Prisoners at Soldiers' Home.

The state prison board, moving after charges by Chief of Police James L. Beavers that convicts on duty at the Confederate Soldiers' Home were negligently supervised, Thursday assumed full control over and responsibility for the men on duty at the home, absorbing it into the state convict system as one of the regular units.

J. J. Wilson, former sheriff of Barrow county, was appointed warden in charge of the convicts at the home. He was instructed to supervise the convicts on duty there in line with the rules and regulations of the convict board for the government of all camps.

Previously the convicts on duty at the home were under the supervision of the Soldiers' Home authorities. It was this situation that led to Chief Beavers' charges after Willie Counts, negro, has escaped and murdered Officer Crankshaw, of the Atlanta police force.

Members of the state prison board subsequently denied that the convicts had been allowed freedom at night, as charged by Beavers, and stated that Counts had broken out through a barred window. Judge E. L. Rainey, announcing the changed status of the convicts at the home Thursday, asked that it be brought out that Counts was not a life term prisoner, convicted of murder, but was serving a short sentence for the larceny of an automobile.

GOVERNOR DEFENDS CONVICT SYSTEM.

Lack of information was blamed by Governor L. G. Hardman Thursday for recent criticism of Georgia's prison system.

The governor issued a formal statement in which he defended the system and declared the low mortality rate in Georgia institutions and camps indicates that the prison population in few states is better cared for than in this one.

Worked In Open.

These things, the governor also said, may be accounted for by the fact that convicts are working in the open under regulations requiring that they be housed in an abundance of wholesome food and sufficient clothes suitable to the seasons.

"Sleeping quarters are given special attention," the executive declared. "It is made the duty of prison physicians, who invariably are among the outstanding men of the profession in their respective communities and are under oath and bond, together with the warden, to carefully inspect and rigidly enforce sanitary regulations."

Only Punishment.

"The strap was abolished in Georgia several years ago, and the stock and solitary confinement substituted as the only punishments. Under the law a prisoner cannot be kept sitting in a stock longer than one hour. This punishment, according to best medical authorities, is not only not injurious but is humane."

"The term 'chain gang' is almost a misnomer. In numerous counties there is scarcely a man in chains, and in others chains are used on only a few unruly prisoners."

He concluded his statement with

"There are now many modern stockades equipped with hot and cold water, sanitary sewers, and hot and cold baths, hospitals and dining rooms, and others are being constantly erected."

Bill To Move Authority From Treasury to Justice Department Sure of Passage.

BY CECIL B. DICKSON.

Associated Press Staff Writer.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The Williamson bill to carry out the first of President Hoover's proposals to strengthen dry enforcement by transferring the prohibition unit from the treasury to the justice department today received its first consideration in the house, where its passage by Saturday virtually was assured.

Although there is little opposition to the transfer there, an attack was launched immediately by wets and drys against a provision to make the attorney-general and secretary of the treasury jointly responsible for regulation of industrial alcohol permits.

The wets are agreed they want to give the drys everything they desire to enforce the law under the bill, so there will be no alibi when, as they contend, enforcement will have failed in the justice department.

Some want the attorney-general to make regulations under which the secretary of the treasury may issue permits. Others believe the dual responsibility will result in a spying by justice department agents on legitimate industrial alcohol consuming concerns, and that the treasury alone should regulate the 160,000 permits.

The law enforcement commission's recommendations for legislation to relieve federal court congestion by empowering United States commissioners to try casual or slight offenders of the dry law was defended today before a house judiciary sub-committee by Chairman Wickersham and Roscoe Pound, of the commission. The latter contended that the definition of slight or casual cases to permit imposition of fines up to $500 and imprisonment up to six months would make the proceedings in cases where United States commissioners are called upon to try a grand jury under the law.

The accused, he said, could demand trial by jury and it would be within the province of the district attorney to decide whether the case should be submitted to a grand jury or to a judge. As now is the case, District judges would be authorized to overrule either acquittals or convictions recommended by the commissioners.

The commission's recommendations were assailed in the senate by Senator Wagner, democrat, New York, who declared that its report to congress was disappointing and that the proposal to broaden the commissioners' powers was unconstitutional.

Mr. Boykin would make no comment whatever on the White report, but the broker is said to have told intimate friends that he was delaying a business trip to New Orleans, because he "understood" the grand jury wanted to see him next week.

If White does appear it is expected that he will waive immunity which has been granted other witnesses. The operation of the brokerage company operated by White and York are said to have been among the things investigated by the grand jury as well as the councilman's interest in the magazine.

27 Heard Thursday.

The grand jury Thursday still was without the service of its foreman, W. Rawson Collier, who did not return from his business trip to Philadelphia until last night. He is expected to be present when the grand jury resumes the investigation today.

A total of 27 witnesses were heard Thursday, bringing the week's total to 131. When the week opened, Solicitor-General Boykin said more than 200 were to be questioned before Saturday night. It appeared Thursday that number would be heard. Only 23 witnesses were subpoenaed for Saturday night. It was said Thursday night, Mr. Boykin is expected to confer with Mr. Collier today on the probability of holding a session Saturday to finish the program mapped out for the week. If a session is held Saturday morning it is expected that all of the witnesses who were subpoenaed for the week and who have not yet appeared will be given a chance to testify and thereby not lose any further time from their businesses.

POLICE CAPTAIN FAIN IS CALLED BY GRAND JURORS

Officer Is Chief Witness Thursday at City Hall "Graft" Probe; Refuses To Discuss Testimony.

Temporarily dropping its inquiry into the activities of the city park department, the Fulton grand jury Thursday called in Captain Grover Fain, of the police department, and spent practically the entire day investigating a number of recent promotions and transfers of policemen and detectives, with the remainder of afternoon and night sessions given over to further consideration of the activities of the board of education, in so far as the constructions of schools is concerned.

The grand jury, which is on the fourteenth week of its general probe of the administration of the municipal government, is said to have heard four witnesses on police department affairs, in addition to Captain Fain. The names of these witnesses were not learned.

The police captain was on duty at headquarters when he received a telephone summons to appear before the grand jury at once and he came immediately to the courthouse. He was before the jury nearly half an hour but refused to discuss his testimony when his appearance had been concluded. When he left the courthouse Captain Fain carried a sheet of paper, bearing several notes and from this it was presumed that he is to be recalled at a later date and had instructions to bring with him data or reports for consideration by the inquisitorial body.

White May Be Called.

Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, who is directing the inquiry, refused to say whether he expected to call White and York to confirm or deny a well circulated rumor that they were business partners of Councilman Harry York of the sixth ward. White and York are said to be at the courthouse shortly before noon Thursday but both insisted they had other business and their visit had nothing to do with the grand jury investigation.

The two are partners in a brokerage concern and are co-authors of a monthly publication, said to have devoted its interest to governmental operations of the state, city and county. It is reported that the publication of the magazine, published in January, was the final issue.

Mr. Boykin would make no comment whatever on the White report, but the broker is said to have told intimate friends that he was delaying a business trip to New Orleans, because he "understood" the grand jury wanted to see him next week.

If White does appear it is expected that he will waive immunity which has been granted other witnesses. The operation of the brokerage company operated by White and York are said to have been among the things investigated by the grand jury as well as the councilman's interest in the magazine.

Constance Bennett Denies She Wants Gloria's Marquis

Constance Bennett, left, who has been having some costly conversation with the Marquis Henri de la Falaise, via wireless telephone, denies that she is disturbing the marital bliss of Gloria Swanson, right.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 6.—(Special)—Constance Bennett, stage and screen star, doesn't want Gloria's marquis. She said so herself, today. Reports from the eastern seaboard to the effect that Miss Bennett, in the past few weeks, had been the very best customer for New York-Paris wireless telephones, rolled off the pink ears of Miss Bennett in her cheeks.

"They're just too ridiculous," remarked Constance, who is the possessor of a brand-new divorce from Philip M. Plant, New York millionaire.

TROOPS CONTROL MEXICAN CAPITAL.

BY A. ALCAZAR PASTOR.
MEXICO CITY, Feb. 6.—Mexico City is being patrolled today by small squads of the regular army, as the authorities have decided on extraordinary measures of precaution in view of their belief that the attempted assassination of President Pascual Ortiz Rubio has a political background.

Police are conducting a thorough investigation to unravel the plot, and arrests of prominent supporters of Jose Vasconcelos, who is now in California, have been ordered, and a few are already in custody as suspects.

President Ortiz Rubio passed a quiet night, his physicians announce. His condition was unchanged and though suffering from pain, he was able to sleep.

Daniel Flores, 22-year-old would-be assassin, is said to have slept soundly after his grueling examination yesterday, when he pleaded guilty and gave out the full details of the conspiracy to kill Senator Ortiz Rubio.

Police Maintain Reserve.

Reserve is being maintained by the police, who fear that premature disclosures may hamper investigation of the incident. Local newspapers have been requested not to mention the suspicion that Vasconcelos hatched the plot.

Though the death penalty is abolished by the new penal code, there is a possibility that Flores will be executed in view of the fact that four exceptions are provided by the law, one of which is applicable to Ortiz Rubio's assassin as being "guilty of an offense seriously endangering the national peace."

Confessed Slayer Of Donaldson Guilty of Theft

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 6.—(AP)—G. H. Goggins, who local police records shows has confessed in the last few days to 80 automobile thefts, a holdup, three bigamous marriages and the murder of Bert Donaldson, an Atlanta detective, surprised everyone in court here today by entering pleas of not guilty to two charges of stealing automobiles.

Then a few minutes later he changed his pleas to guilty and was sentenced to a total of ten years in the state penitentiary. In answer to why he had pleaded not guilty after having admitted the thefts, he said he did not want to involve his co-defendant, J. F. Carlson. He was told that he could plead guilty without damaging Carlson's chances of acquittal and he did so. Carlson has not yet been tried.

Police in Atlanta said they did not place much evidence in the men's statement about the Donaldson mystery.

Thanking the federal government for its encouragement of those who have labored to make the park a reality, Governor Horton pledged the efforts of Tennessee to speedy completion of the project. His state, he said, is running a race with North Carolina to deliver to the government the additional acreage required for development of the park.

Governor Gardner extolled the park commissioners who have helped to bring into the national park system "this scenic wonderland which scientists say is one of the world's greatest arboreta and bird sanctuaries."

Both state executives and Secretary Wilbur paid special tribute to the Laura Spelman Rockefeller memorial and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for their magnificent contribution of $5,000,000 to be used in acquiring land for the park.

Secretary Wilbur, who is rated an expert camper by the folk of the mountain country of his own California, said he expected to make a visit soon to the virgin forest of the Great Smokies.

RUBIO UNDERGOES NEW OPERATION; MEXICO IS QUIET

New President Has Piece of Jaw, Shattered by Assassin's Bullet, Removed; Troops on Duty.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 6.—(7 P. M.) President Ortiz Rubio, of Mexico, underwent a second operation this morning to remove a piece of splintered bone from his jaw, but came out of the anesthetic in good shape, it was learned tonight. His doctors insisted that his condition was good.

Lieutenant Colonel Chazaro, the president's private secretary, said this afternoon that former President Calles, Secretary Portes Gil and the other members of the cabinet had seen Ortiz Rubio today, but only at a distance. The president's doctors strictly ordered that no one should be allowed to talk with him.

Military commanders throughout the country tonight telegraphed that conditions were "tranquil" and Mexico City itself was calm. El Universal Grafico declared that an attempted uprising against the authorities in Coahuila had been frustrated by soldiers at Saltillo several days ago, but the trouble apparently was not connected with the attempt against Ortiz Rubio.

Senator Portes Gil, who as secretary for the interior is acting head of the government during the absence of Ortiz Rubio, told the press today that all departments of the government were functioning normally.

Flores was removed under heavy guard today from the military headquarters prison adjoining the palace to Santiago military prison near Valbuena field.

HOOPER 'PHONES STIMSON TO ASK DRASTIC SLASH

United States Demands Immediate Parity With England; Will Not Wait Until 1942 as Specified.

PROPOSAL GETS HEARTY SUPPORT

Relinquishing of Program Calling for 21 Heavy and Fast Cruisers Pleases Japanese Delegates.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(UN)—Secretary of State Stimson informed President Hoover tonight he would address the London naval conference tomorrow with a proposal for scrapping from two to eight battleships in 1931 and to fix American cruiser strength at 327,000 tons compared with 339,000 tons for Great Britain.

Stimson's message was in the form of the text of his remarks to be made at the conference tomorrow. They immediately were approved by President Hoover after which Acting Secretary of State Cotton spoke to Stimson in London by long distance telephone.

Stimson said the first American demand was immediate parity in every class of ship with Great Britain.

Equality in 1931.

He suggested battleship fleets be equalized in 1931 instead of in 1942 as scheduled by the Washington arms conference. The United States now possesses 18 battleships compared with 20 for Great Britain. The Washington conference provided the two countries should attain parity in 1942 with 15 capital ships each.

Stimson suggested reductions on both sides to equalize the two fleets next year.

The least reduction to provide equality would be the scrapping of two British warships which would leave the fleets with 18 battleships each. The maximum reduction would be to scrap five British and three American capital ships next year leaving the fleets with 15 capital ships each—the level foreseen by the Washington treaty.

For the United States Stimson asked 18 cruisers of 10,000 tons armed, with eight-inch guns against 15 for Great Britain.

Duplication Right.

The actual tonnage difference between the cruiser fleets, Stimson said, will be 12,000 tons. Great Britain will possess 42,000 more of small six-inch gun cruisers than the United States but 30,000 tons of this will be offset by the surplus of big American cruisers.

But to insure "exact equality of opportunity" Stimson proposed each

Churches Discontinue Carolina Mill Work

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The American Friends Service committee and the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America today announced that their joint relief work among textile workers in Marion, N. C., will soon be discontinued.

James Myers, industrial secretary of the social service commission of the Federal Council of Churches, and Clarence E. Pickett, executive secretary of the American Friends Service committee, said in a joint statement that "the time has come to try to find other work on the farms or elsewhere for the Marion strikers who are refused employment by the mills."

The two organizations are laying plans to that end.

The statement said that "the mills in Marion are running as fully as depressed business conditions warrant."

Tests of field radio equipment at Candler field under supervision of officers of Fort McPherson were under way Thursday after arrival of two army planes from Maxwell field, Montgomery, Ala., to aid in the tests.

A tri-motor plane operated by Curtis Publishing Company, of Philadelphia, and piloted by A. W. Orpen, stopped at Candler field Thursday for fuel. The ship was en route to New Orleans. Another visitor was A. D. King, who landed from Jacksonville to spend Thursday in Atlanta.

The weather was excellent for flying conditions in this section of the country Thursday, officials at Candler field assured inquirers. Passenger planes did a rushing business and student fliers got in a number of much-muched-for "hours." All mail planes also were reported to be on schedule for the first time in several days.

A standardized program of charges for services at airports throughout the country will be developed by the committee on airport management standards and ethics of the airport section of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, which meets at St. Louis, Mo., February 15, during the International Aircrafts exposition, sponsored by the chamber.

The committee will propose a uniform rate for plane service throughout the country and other services rendered fliers at an airport. A code of ethics for airport management also will be drafted.

GUGGENHEIM HEIRESS' MARRIAGE ANNULLED

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Failure of the runaway marriage of Natalie Guggenheim, 18, and Thomas Gorman, which ended today in the signing of an annulment, was due to the refusal of the young Long Island real estate man to live with the heiress to the copper millions.

This was learned today as State Supreme Court Justice Joseph Morosauer conducted a final hearing on the annulment action and signed the papers.

Both Natalie's mother and Mrs. Patrick Gorman, mother of the bridegroom, it was learned, testified they had urged the young people to live together, but Gorman had refused. He verified this testimony at today's closed hearing.

Previously it had been believed that conflict in religion was the primary cause of the friction. He is a Catholic and she subscribes to the Jewish faith. It was also alleged that her parents were much opposed to the union.

Gorman, son of a former Long Island freight agent, and the daughter of Edmund A. Guggenheim, were married last April 12.

The young couple never lived together and two weeks after the marriage the bride sailed for Europe with her parents for a visit. During her absence abroad Gorman frequently was quoted as saying he hoped to receive her parents' blessing and that he was building a home to which he would take his bride on her return from Europe.

Nina Wilcox Putnam Files Bankruptcy Plea

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Inez W. Sanders was yesterday as Nina Wilcox Putnam, author of humorous short stories and articles, today petitioned the United States district court here to be adjudged a voluntary bankrupt.

Miss Sanders, who has a winter home at Delray Beach, stated in the petition that she is unable to pay debts which she has contracted. She is willing, the petition asserted, to surrender all of her property with exception of that which is exempt by law for benefit of her creditors.

Schedule of liabilities and assets was not filed, but the petition stated Miss Sanders' willingness to offer a schedule. The petition was filed by the West Palm Beach law firm of Wideman, Wideman & Wardlaw.

Report of a committee working on a uniform code of airport field rules is to be presented at the St. Louis meeting, which is to be held in the Jefferson hotel.

The airport section conference is one of 10 meetings to be held during the International Aircraft Exposition by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, Society of Automotive Engineers, and the Bureau of Aeronautics of the department of commerce. Other sections which will meet are: Commercial Airplane Manufacturers, Motor Manufacturers, Air Transport, Flying School, Distributors and Dealers, accessory and material, fuel and lubricants and finance and insurance.

These meetings are expected to be an important part of the International Aircraft Exposition to be staged between February 15 and 22.

A recent flight from Paris to London made in 95 minutes breaks the former record by a plane flying from London to Paris in 99 minutes at an average of 141 miles per hour. The distance of approximately 200 miles was made by a British airplane carrying 20 passengers and weighing nine tons. An average speed of 145 miles per hour was maintained.

A check-up of the 54 women students who have registered for ground school courses at the Curtis-Wright Flying service ground school in New York city since the courses for women were inaugurated last September, revealed a wide variety in the sort of thing they spend their time doing when they are not learning how and why airplanes fly. Eighteen different occupations are represented among them.

Listed among these would-be fliers are artists, inventors, telegraph operators, advertising copy writers, airplane saleswomen, students, secretaries, and housewives.

LINDBERGH CAMP, Tehachapi

Calif., Feb. 6.—(AP)—An exhaustive study of the glider, which he believes will prove particularly valuable in teaching the public how to fly, has been launched here by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

Colonel Lindbergh, who early this week piloted a glider to a graceful landing in the Tehachapi foothills after it had lost an aileron in mid-air, disclosed yesterday that he believed the sail plane, because of the relatively high degree of safety it provides, could be used to increase public interest in aviation and in training prospective pilots to handle powered planes.

With Hawley Bowlus, glider builder at San Diego, Calif., Lindbergh established his camp here to carry on a series of experiments and test flights with gliders. During the encampment Bowlus expects to attempt to better the world glider record for sustained flight, 14 hours 45 minutes, held by Lieutenant Dinort, of Germany.

The flying colonel said he hoped to demonstrate that the glider because of its ease of piloting is not a hazardous craft, even in the hands of a novice. Lindbergh believes, can learn to fly much more easily and naturally if they learn the first principles of flight in a glider.

Milwaukee Police Quell Jobless Riot

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 6.—(AP) For the second time in less than 24 hours, Milwaukee police were called upon today to break up demonstrations of jobless men.

A crowd estimated at 75, addressed by a soap-box orator in front of an employment agency were dispersed by police today. No arrests were made. The speaker declared there would be a citywide demonstration against present conditions of "unemployment right at the time everyone is yelling about prosperity."

A parade of jobless men ended in rout yesterday, police charged, their ranks in front of the city hall as they prepared to present demands for "work or wages" to Mayor Daniel W. Hoan, socialist.

Three men were arrested, but later released on request of the mayor who told a delegation from the 300 unemployed that he could not help solve their problems.

MILITARY COMMITTEE HEARS SHOALS BILL
Proposed Lease to Cyanamid Company Is First To Be Studied.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The Muscle Shoals question which has occupied the attention of every congress since the World War, resumed its place as an issue before this session today with the opening of hearings by the house military affairs committee on the Wright bill to lease the project to the American Cyanamid Company.

William B. Bell, head of that firm, was the only witness. His testimony was confined to a contradiction of newspaper articles which he said conveyed the idea that the company had paid money to the American Farm Bureau Federation and the Tennessee River Improvement Association. Such reports, he asserted, were untrue.

The Cyanamid Company did, however, the cost of distributing to some twelve or fifteen hundred newspapers an article written by Chester H. Gray, Washington representative of the farm federation, in support of the company's offer to operate Muscle Shoals, he said, adding that this expense amounted to about $7,050. He explained that the federation in the annual convention had gone on record in favor of the company's offer.

The witness also branded as false reports that an agreement had been reached with power interests for the distribution of surplus power if the lease should be granted. Conferees had held on the question of disposing of the surplus power, he added, but no conclusions were reached and the meetings were discontinued.

Little surplus power will be available from the project, Bell continued, after the power requirements for fertilizer manufacture have been satisfied. Although unable to suggest any plan for disposing of the surplus, he expressed the opinion that distribution be made by means of existing transmission lines, because the surplus would be so small as not to justify a large expenditure for construction of other lines.

Another hearing will be held next Tuesday to hear Bell discuss the offer of his firm, which is embodied in the Wright bill.

Mississippi Removes Road Board Power

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Practically legislating out of office the state highway commissioners by taking all powers away from them, the Mississippi house of representatives today experienced a radical change of position on road legislation.

Representative Lawrence Kennedy, Adams, was author of the amendment making the present commissioners advisory to a proposed recreation commission of three members, which was a next reversal of the house majority's stand at a previous session which was favorable only to the proposition of making the proposed additional members to the present commission.

The Kennedy amendment anticipates apparent resignation of some of the present members, as it especially prohibits the governor from filling any vacancy that may arise among the personnel of the present eight-member elective commission, which serves without pay. One vacancy already exists through the resignation some time ago of B. W. Robins, Tupelo.

Standing firmly on its elective commission proposal, however, the house refused to consider the proposition of Representative Barr Miller, Columbia, that the three additional members be appointed.

Under the bill as now before the house, the three additional members to be elected from three highway districts would be empowered to name a director of state highways, whose duty would be supervision and direction of a hand-surfaced road program to be financed on a pay-as-you-go plan.

Gloria Gould Weds Young Contractor

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Gloria Gould Bishop, grand-daughter of Jay Gould, was married today to W. MacFarlane Barker, 31-year-old contractor, of 277 Park avenue, whom she had known for several years.

The wedding, which took place in Yorkville court with Magistrate Bernard Deans officiating, was a quiet one and immediately afterward Mr. and Mrs. Barker drove away. There was no announcement of their destination.

The bride is the daughter of George J. and Mrs. Edith Kingdon Gould and is 23 years old. She and Henry A. Bishop, Jr., member of a prominent Connecticut family, were divorced in Reno, January 21, 1929. In the following June Bishop married Edith L. Weed, of Norwalk, Conn.

Barker, born in Chicago, is the son of Alfred Barker and Mrs. Harriet N. Rolands Barker.

Philippine Governor Worried by Epidemics

(Copyright, 1930, for The Constitution, by The Chicago Daily News.)
MANILA, P. I., Feb. 6.—Governor-General Dwight F. Davis is concerned over sporadic epidemics, one of which has broken out in the densely populated district of Intramuros, in the heart of Manila. The other is believed to be confined to the hillsman of Sarangani and Tubay, coastal islands in the Gulf of Davao, off the southern island of Mindanao.

Lethargic encephalitis (stupifying inflammation of the brain) has claimed victims in Intramuros. Health officials have warned the city that this disease is virulent and contagious. The hillsman are suffering from smallpox, and although it is impossible to ascertain the number of deaths, it is estimated that they may reach 200. The hillsman fear vaccination but special squads are prevailing on the chiefs to set an example and prevent extermination of these people.

Atlantan Presides At Interracial Meet

CLARKSDALE, Miss., Feb. 6.—(AP)—The inter-racial commission for the southern states, whose leaders are here for a two-day conference to study racial conditions, especially pertaining to north Mississippi, devoted the morning session to a study of racial relations based on religion.

Leading white planters, business and professional men and religious and sociological leaders joined in discussions, hoping to bring about better conditions between the races in the south.

Mrs. Jessie Daniels Ames, of Atlanta, director of the woman's department of the inter-racial commission, presided.

LADY ASTOR HONORED

Dress Worn by American Peeress in Museum.

PLYMOUTH, England, Feb. 6.—(AP) Lady Nancy Astor, American-born peeress, has acquired a new and striking fame. Plymouth Museum has secured the dress she wore as the first woman to take a seat in the house of commons and the dress will have a place among habiliments worn by royalty and other personages in centuries gone by.

Lady Astor was elected to parliament in 1919 and has held her seat ever since.

Motor Freight Bus Tax Is Sustained

Constitutionality of the tax of $25 each on motor freight buses, imposed by the last legislature, was upheld by Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy, of the Fulton superior court, in the case of the Southern Transportation Company vs. William B. Harrison, comptroller general, Thursday.

The tax was attacked on the ground that by exempting vehicles used for transportation of agricultural products it lacked uniformity and was unconstitutional.

Southern-Camp Directors Open Two-Day Meet Today

Southern Members of Camp Directors' Association To Hold Sessions
Here.

The directors of 35 southern camps, members of the National Camp Directors' Association, will meet at the Biltmore hotel today and Saturday for the seventh annual convention of the Southern Appalachian section of the association. The two-day session will open this morning at 9:30 o'clock with devotional exercises led by A. A. Jameson of Camp Dixie.

The Camp Directors Association is the international organization of men and women whose profession is the directing of camps for boys and girls. It co-operates with national organizations interested in the educational program of modern youth. It is the immediate purpose of the meeting this week to promote fellowship, inspiration, education and co-operation among the directors of southern private camps. Formal addresses and discussions of camping problems will be the means employed toward this end.

An exhibit of photographs and articles made in camps will be displayed at the hotel during the two-day session and from 7 until 9:30 o'clock Friday night. The public is invited to view this exhibit and at 8 o'clock Friday night there will be an open meeting to which the public is invited. At that time the work of the camps and their educational value will be shown.

Kephart To Speak.
Dr. A. P. Kephart, of the North Carolina College for Women, at Greensboro, will discuss camp objectives and the new psychology, while Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of the Atlanta schools, will speak on "Camp and the Home." Music will be furnished during the evening by the Agnes Scott Glee club.

During the day, Friday, groups will hold sessions for discussion of camp problems and at 6 o'clock Friday night a dinner is to be given. Saturday the discussions will be resumed and during the morning various groups will be heard on project work. The first on the program is the Atlanta group and the topic of discussion, to be led by A. A. Jameson, chairman, will be "How to Secure 100 Per Cent Membership in the C. D. A." At 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon a business session will be called for active members only and committees will report. The selection of the next convention place and the election of officers will then close the convention.

The present officers are Miss Ethel J. McCoy, of Camp Junaluska, president; Colonel L. L. Rice, Camp Nakanawa, vice president; Mrs. Harvey L. Parry, Camp Parry-dixie, secretary, and D. Meade Bernard, Camp Carolina, treasurer.

Among those expected to attend are the directors of 35 southern camps which are members of the Camp Directors' Association and delegates from 60 non-member camps in the Southern Appalachian territory which have been invited to send representatives. The camps which are members of the association are: Beech Haven, Carolina; Chunn's Cove, Delaware; Dixie, Eagle's Nest, French Broad, Greystone, Illabee, Juliette, Low, Nakanawa, Keyauwee, Nakanawa, Merrie-Woode, Mondamin, Nakanawa, Nikwas, Oklawaha, Osceola, Parry-dixie, Rockbrook, Sequoyah, Skyland, Tadenia, Tawasentha, Terra Alta, Texaway, Wabun, Annung, Wawanassa and Yonahlossee.

Man Again Bonded On Liquor Charge

W. C. House, whose address was given as 360 Washington street, was placed under bond for the second time in a month on charges of violating the prohibition laws, following a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith here Thursday afternoon.

Officers testified that two cars, one containing 100 gallons of whisky and the other nine gallons were found in the rear of the defendant's home. Bond in this case was fixed at $500. His former hearing was January 7, when a bond of $1,000 was assessed.

MRS. PARKER NAMED
Atlanta Woman Adult Education Secretary for State.

The appointment of Mrs. Frances Parker, 1008 Columbia avenue, as secretary of the newly created division of adult education of the state department of education was announced Thursday by Dr. M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of schools.

Mrs. Parker will assume her new duties Monday. The division of which she will be secretary will have charge of the campaign for funds for adult education purposes. Its expenses are underwritten by members of the Georgia literacy commission, which met Monday at the capitol.

Mrs. Parker is now connected with the city department of education. She is widely known in Atlanta and was for a long time connected with the federal reserve bank here.

KIDNAPED REALTOR FREED BY CAPTORS

62-Year-Old Man Tells of
8-Day Imprisonment.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 6.—(P)—His face bruised and his body exhausted, Max Price, 62, dealer in real estate and mortgages, tonight was recovering his strength in a private sanitarium 20 miles from here after eight days in the rough hands of kidnapers.

The victim staggered into a railroad station at Bridgeport soon after midnight today and, trembling and unnerved, made known his identity.

Meanwhile, police sought to unravel the threads of the daring abduction and bring justice to those who spirited the man away from his doorstep January 28.

Nine persons were under arrest here and in New York. Their connection with the case, however, has not been made clear by authorities.

They include a New Haven butcher, grocer, dry goods peddler, a general contractor, an insurance broker and a woman fortune teller of Bridgeport.

Another resident of Milford, while in New York are two Detroit gangsters.

Price, who said he believes he was held a captive near Springfield, Mass., was placed in an automobile and driven for three hours before he was released near Bridgeport upon a promise to pay $25,000 ransom. His family had received demands for ransom ranging as high as $75,000.

Appearing in city court, Jacob Prober, Hyman Orzechowsky and Solomon Bodek, all of New Haven; Herman Herman of Milford; Isaac Katzman, Morton Lessner and Mrs. Emma Delmator, all of Bridgeport, had their cases continued until Saturday under bond of $10,000.

They are held under technical charges of illness.

In New York, Samuel Hendel and Harry Fleisch, Detroit members of the "purple gang," were held without bail for a hearing Monday.

The victim said today that at least six men were his captors, and that they spoke the Hebrew language as well as others he did not recognize.

Abraham Price, a brother, made one trip to New York with about $30,000 to meet the demands, but the scheduled meeting with representatives of the kidnapers fell through when the latter were informed that a detective was with Price.

The next day persons now under arrest were taken into custody.

Rector To Lecture.
The Rev. N. R. High Moor, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church, will deliver the 18th lecture in a series on "Great Bible Characters and Their Messages for Today," at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The subject will be "Rebekah."

Emory Gleemen To Leave Monday On Annual Tour

Emory's gleemen will go on the road next week. They will leave Monday, February 10, accompanied by a 15-piece orchestra, for the annual winter tour which will include five Georgia cities and one in Florida. They will be back in Atlanta February 16.

Macon, Hazlehurst, Milledgeville, Valdosta, Thomasville and Tallahassee, Fla., will be visited on the week's itinerary.

The senior class of Wesleyan college is sponsoring the concert to be given in the Macon auditorium on the first night. After this performance the gleemen and orchestra will be entertained by one of the sororities.

Those who will make the trip, according to Dr. Malcolm H. Dewey, director, are: Albert Kelley, Birmingham, Ala.; John Panter, Copperhill, Tenn.; Ross Smith, Macon; Aubrey Farr, Milledgeville; Martin McGhee, Tallahassee; George Monk, Moultrie; Harry Lange, Savannah; George Reynolds, Bluefield, Va.; Ben Warren, Griffin; Elmore Bough, Greenville, S. Revenge!

EVANSTON, Ill., Feb. 6.—(AP)—“I’ll get even with you,” said Miss Florence E. Steiger to Policeman George Bein when he gave her a ticket for overtime parking. “I’ll get even. That happened last June. There is little more to add, save to mention that Bein, who is 30, and Miss Steiger, who is 26, have announced their forthcoming marriage.”

Stout Women Learn Easy Way To Lose 20 Pounds of Fat

Table Tells How Much Women and Girls Should Weigh

If you're fat—first remove the cause! KRUSCHEN SALTS contain the 8 mineral salts your body organs, glands and nerves must have to function properly. When your vital organs fail to perform their work correctly—your bowels and kidneys can't throw off that waste material—before you realize it—you're growing hideously fat! Try one-half teaspoonful of KRUSCHEN SALTS in a glass of hot water every morning—in three weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished. Notice also that you have gained in en-

Hoover Accepts Invitation To Visit Kings Mountain

Will Attend Celebration of Revolution Victory To Be Held by 3 States.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—President Hoover today tentatively accepted an invitation to visit Kings Mountain in North and South Carolina on October 7, when three states, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee, celebrate the 150th anniversary of the victory won by the American revolutionary armies at that place.

The invitation was extended on behalf of the states by a distinguished group of representatives who called at the executive offices at noon. O. Max Gardner, governor of North Carolina, presented the invitation and was seconded by Governor Horton, of Tennessee. Governor Richards was unable to attend, but South Carolina was represented by Senator Smith and a number of her delegates in congress.

Mr. Hoover said that the invitation had a particular appeal to him in view of the fact that a number of his ancestors once lived in North Carolina before moving westward to Indiana and Iowa.

Governor Gardner, in extending the formal invitation to Mr. Hoover, called attention to the fact that one of Mr. Hoover's direct ancestors on the Hoover side of the family had settled in North Carolina in 1750 and that sons of this early settler had moved westward to Indiana and Iowa, and that finally the family had identified itself with California.

Governor Gardner urged Mr. Hoover to visit the Kings Mountain celebration because it was the sesquicentennial of one of the most important and decisive battles of the Revolutionary War.

Kings Mountain is on the state line between North Carolina and South Carolina, about 30 miles south of Gastonia, N. C.

On October 7, 150 years ago, General Ferguson with a large body of British troops, had been conducting

HOOPER GIVES DINNER TO SPEAKER OF HOUSE

Guest List Includes Prominent Men From Many Sections.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—One of the most colorful of the series of state dinners at the White House was given tonight by the President and Mrs. Hoover in honor of the Speaker and Mrs. Longworth.

The affair was in a degree a departure from past state social functions in that the chief executive and his wife turned away from official Washington to welcome as their guests a distinguished group of private citizens from widely scattered sections of the country.

Representative and Mrs. Tilson, of Connecticut, were the only exceptions. Those invited to the dinner were: Judge Augustus C. Backus, Minneapolis publisher, and his daughter, Dr. Charlotte Backus, of Philadelphia; James F. Bell, of Minneapolis, and Mrs. Bell; A. W. Berresford, eminent engineer of New York; James F. Burke, counsel for the republican national committee, and Mrs. Burke; Edward H. Butler, publisher of the Buffalo Evening News, and Mrs. Butler; Kent Cooper, general manager of the Associated Press, and Mrs. Cooper; W. N. Doak, labor leader, and Mrs. Doak; Dr. John H. Finley, editor of the New York Times, and Mrs. Finley; Oscar G. Foellinger, publisher of the Fort Wayne (Ind.) News-Sentinel, and Mrs. Foellinger; Walter S. Gifford, of New York, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company; John M. Glenn, director of the Russell Sage Foundation, of New York, and Mrs. Glenn; A. Johnston, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and Mrs. Johnston; Thomas W. Lamont, New York banker, and Mrs. Lamont; John G. Lonsdale, president of the American Bankers' Association, and Mrs. Lonsdale; Gates W. McGarragh, New York banker, and Mrs. McGarragh; Dr. William Gerry Morgan, president of the American Medical Association, and his daughter, Mrs. Osborne; H. Hardison; Herbert N. Straus, New York merchant, and Mrs. Straus; Silas Strawn, Chicago lawyer and financier, and Mrs. Strawn; Felix M. Warburg, New York financier, and Mrs. Warburg; George Woodruff, Chicago banker, and Mrs. Woodruff; Colonel Arthur Woods, of New York, and Mrs. Woods; Captain Allen Buchanan, the president's naval aid, and Colonel Campbell B. Hodges, the president's military aid.

The table decorations were red roses, freesia, and baby primula.

Search Reopened.
EUREKA, Utah, Feb. 6.—(AP)—A searching party assembled here today to search the hills 17 miles southwest of here for Maurice Graham, Western Air Express pilot, missing since January 11, following a report that four miners saw an unusual fire in the mountains some distance from their camp the morning after Graham disappeared while en route to Salt Lake City from Las Vegas, Nevada.

MILITARY TO RULE COLORADO PRISON

World War Colonel Named Head — Ex-Service Men To Guard.

STATE PRISON, CANON CITY, Col., Feb. 6.—(AP)—This little city of 1,100 inmates tonight awaited the imposition of a military dictatorship, a regime instituted in an effort to quell intermittent disorders in the state penitentiary which have resulted in a bloody riot and numerous incendiary fires.

A convict mutiny at the prison last October caused the death of 13 persons, 8 guards and 6 prisoners. The prison will be placed under the dictatorship of Colonel Patrick J. Hamrock, a man of wide military experience, who during the World War commanded the 157th Infantry. Announcement of Colonel Hamrock's appointment was made today by the state board of corrections, which controls the prison.

Informed of the plan to restore order at the penitentiary, Governor W. H. Adams suggested to members of the board that they resign. The board replied that the governor's suggestion would not be followed.

By resolutions the corrections board took steps to discharge three guards whose actions were criticized after the riot in October, and summarily discharged two more.

J. J. Shea and O. J. Pennington were relieved of duty, and charges will be filed with the state civil service commission here tomorrow against M. J. Conway, George Asher and F. G. Thomas. Asher, the prepared charges set forth, failed to throw a riot gun from the wall during the riot, while another guard, Clyde Davis, shouted to him from the prison yard that a riot was in progress. Davis testified before Governor Adams' special investigating committee that he could have quelled the mutiny at its inception had Asher given him the gun. He and Pennington were on the temporary employment list.

Governor Adams holds no power of discharge over the board of corrections, which is under civil service.

Colonel Hamrock, it was said informally, would be given virtually absolute control in managing the prison for a period of three to six months, but the existing administration is not to be disturbed in its official capacity.

Warden Francis E. Crawford is to retain supervision of the institution and William Green, deputy warden, the target of much criticism from the convicts, will not be removed.

Hamrock's title will be special deputy warden. The work of reorganization is to include employment when feasible of 50 ex-service men and others with military experience as guards. The board of corrections also announced it would take steps to purchase 1,500 acres of farm land four miles east of Canon City, on which to quarter and work the more orderly convicts. A new cell house is in the process of construction.

The last disturbance in the penitentiary was a fire last Saturday which swept the prison tailor shop. Several of those under suspicion of starting the fire are in solitary confinement.

Foundation Established.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 6.—(AP)—In memory of his son, John C. Shaffer, editor and publisher of a group of newspapers including the Chicago Evening Post and the Indianapolis Star, has established a foundation in the Yale Divinity school. The income is to be used each year for a course of lectures on "The Life, Character and Teachings of Jesus."

Self Defense Is Plea Of Woman Slayer

CATLETTSBURG, Ky., Feb. 6.—(AP)—The statement she shot and killed a man from the top of a silo as he was climbing the ladder after her, was made to local police today by Mrs. Maude Cyrus, 40, wealthy widow.

The shooting occurred Wednesday afternoon and Mrs. Cyrus was brought here to jail today. She waived an examination when arraigned today and was released on $5,000 bond.

The man killed was Joe Smith, 25, a farm hand employed by Mrs. Cyrus since her husband, James Cyrus, was gored by a bull three years ago. Mrs. Cyrus admitted the shooting, officers said, and claimed self defense.

Mrs. Cyrus said Smith had been drinking and she went out to the silo he followed her. She said she climbed the 50-foot ladder to the top of the building and turned around to see Smith also coming up the ladder. She told him to halt and when he did not shot him with a pistol. He fell 15 feet to the ground and died soon after.

Friends Identify 2 Slain Bandits

Identity of the two negroes who were shot and killed Thursday night in an attempt to rob the Seaboard Air Line warehouse, under the Spring street viaduct, was established Thursday afternoon by associates.

During the day many persons viewed the bodies of the two who were shot by Special Officer T. J. Holloway and they were positively identified as Richard Casey, of 128-1/2 Hilliard street, and Charlie Griffin, of both 220 Dunlap street and 173 Courtland street.

The first was killed instantly and the second died some hours later at Grady hospital. They were shot inside of the building after they had fired at the special officer on duty there. Two other negroes who were in the gang at the time escaped and had not been apprehended Thursday night. An inquest will be held over the bodies of Casey and Griffin at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Hanley Company's funeral parlors.

Navy Diving Bell Experiment Success

ABOARD U. S. S. FALCON, OFF KEY WEST, Fla., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Personnel of the submarine S-4 were brought to the surface of the Gulf of Mexico today in a diving bell designed by the navy department in the third experiment with such devices. The bell, similar to the O'Rourke bell, successfully operated last week, brought up the crew of the submerged craft from a depth of 70 feet.

The preliminary test with the navy department's apparatus, conducted in smooth water, was considered "most satisfactory" by officers of the expedition.

Adverse weather reports and rising seas caused leaders of the salvage ship Falcon and the submarine S-4 to decide to return to the Key West navy base tonight, abandoning further operations with the escape and rescue devices for the week.

In the operation today the bell was lowered over the motor hatch of the submarine by the Falcon and the hatch opened by members of the submarine crew. The personnel of the crew entered the bell and was brought to the surface and taken aboard the Falcon.

French Guest Sues His Careless Host

PARIS, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Whether a safety razor blade is a dangerous weapon and to what extent a host is responsible for accidents to his guests are up for determination before Paris courts.

M. Iskowitz, invited to dinner at the home of Albert Dubois, wished to wash his hands. He reached for the soap, to which there stuck a razor blade.

Iskowitz cut himself and left without dinner, quite angry. He filed suit for damages, charging negligence by Dubois in leaving such a dangerous thing as a razor blade near the soap.

Guggenheim Aeronautic Gift May Come to Tech

Captain Emory S. Land Guest of Dr. M. L. Brittain, States School Favored for $300,000 Gift.

Officials of the city, county and state Thursday gave assurance to Captain Emory S. Land, Guggenheim Foundation executive committee member engaged in the selection of a southern university upon which to bestow an aeronautical technical school, that if the school came to Georgia Tech it would receive their full support.

Captain Land, who was on his second visit to the Georgia Institute of Technology in connection with the $300,000 gift which the foundation will make to a southern university, said that competition for the award had narrowed down to four colleges. Which the other three were, he did not reveal, but stated that Georgia Tech was one of them.

He said that the executive committee of the foundation would make its selection of the school which it will endow with an aviation center within the next 30 days. In making the gift, which will provide for a building and equipment, he said that the committee would insist that assurance be given of its operation and maintenance, and that a proper personnel for instruction purposes would be installed.

The officials of the city, county and state who were present at a luncheon tendered Captain Land by Dr. M. L. Brittain, Tech president, Thursday promised that all the backing necessary would be given to the school. The foundation, which ceased its activities for the promotion of aviation January 31, was left with funds which it had been determined would be given to the creation of aviation centers in universities in the various sections of the country. They will not be flying schools, in the sense that pilots will be instructed, but will be devoted to teaching the science of aeronautics and to research work.

Those present at the luncheon were Mayor J. N. Bagdikian, Graham West, president of the Georgia Tech board of trustees; George Carswell, secretary of state; Dr. W. L. Gilbert, Paul Etheridge, Walter B. Smith, Ed. H. Laman and Walter C. Hendrix, county commissioners; Chip Robert, Robert Gregg, president of the Atlanta Aircraft Corporation; Commander Harold Jones, of the Georgia Tech naval reserve officers' training corps, and Jesse Draper.

Paving for Emory Will Cost $12,000

New pavement for the Emory University campus costing $12,000 has been approved by the executive committee of the board of trustees. President Harvey W. Cox has been authorized to let contracts for the immediate paving of Asbury drive from Dobbs hall to the railroad station and of the road down the fraternity row to the S. A. E. house.

Funds for this work were made possible by a gift recently received by the trustees. The paving will be of the same type and quality as that placed on the campus last year when the main approach to the quadrangle and dormitory groups was hard surfaced.

Calloway Official Addresses Ad Club

O. C. Holleran, assistant advertising manager of Calloway Mills at LaGrange, Ga., was the principal speaker at the regular weekly luncheon meeting at the Atlanta Advertising Club Thursday at the Piedmont hotel.

Mr. Holleran outlined a number of ideas on assistance that the manufacturer could give the merchant in advertising his products, explaining in considerable detail methods which his concern had used to good effect.

CIVIC GROUPS RALLY TO SUPPORT OF CHEST

Council Urged To Restore Appropriations for Welfare Agencies.

Rallying to support of Atlanta's agencies of human welfare, whose existence is threatened because of lack of public financial support, organizations of Atlanta men and women yesterday joined the movement that seeks to save them and the Community Chest, through which they operate. Resolutions were adopted by the Atlanta Parent-Teacher Council, by the City Club, and by a group of representatives of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs, appealing to city council to restore the appropriations to charitable societies which have been cut from the municipal budget for 1930.

In every case the resolutions pointed out that without this support, there will inevitably be human suffering and hardship. With the city's unfortunate, the jobless and the sick, the widowed mothers and homeless children, as the real victims.

The situation was described as the result of failure of the public by more than $110,000 to subscribe the full amount asked for support of the 33 Chest agencies in the campaign last fall, to which circumstance was added the handicaps of city council's action withdrawing the 1930 appropriations, to delay in payment of county appropriations, and to an indebtedness of $50,000 inherited by the Chest from previous administrations.

The Parent-Teacher Council, pleading through Mrs. H. C. Parks, its president, support of the Chest in this emergency, adopted the following resolution: "The Atlanta P. T. A. Council deplors the situation that has caused organizations to be withdrawn from the list of charitable institutions formerly supplied with funds; and resolves that we appeal to the city fathers that these organizations be restored to the list."

Mrs. S. F. Boykin, president of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs, appointed a committee of 54 representative women who will appear next week before the finance committee of council to ask for restoration of the charity funds to the finance sheet of the city.

The council committee will be asked to restore previous appropriations as made to the Atlanta chapter of the American Red Cross, Atlanta Child's Home, Carnegie Library, Home, Churches Home for Girls, Community Home for Girls, Georgia Children's Home Society, Home for Incurables, Home for Old Women, Leonard Street Orphan's Home, Tuberculosis Association, Sheltering Arms and the West Point Milk fund. The women's committee also will ask action by council to remove beggars from the streets, and thus make the Community Chest completely the agency of Atlanta's social service.

Georgia Boys Like Game Warden Plan

Peter S. Twitty's proposal of a junior game warden organization to be created among young people has drawn favorable comment from young folk over the entire state. A number of letters have been received at the state department of game and fish from youths interested in the movement.

"Just read your article in the paper of your plans for junior game wardens. I think it is a great scheme," reads one of them, from Francis Smith, of Wadsworth. "Boys can do lots to conserve wild life," he says, "for the woods would not be interesting without our birds. We have feed tables for birds and they certainly do eat all you give them this snowy weather. They like the berries on the privet bushes but nearly everybody cuts theirs so often the berries never come on them for the birds to eat."

"I wish you all sorts of good luck in your plans. We have lots of good scouts here and I am sure each one will help you carry out your work in protecting wild life."

2 Pay Entry Fees For County Board

Entrance fees in the race for county commission posts were paid Thursday by Dr. W. L. Gilbert, chairman of the commission, and Paul S. Etheridge, chairman of the public works committee. Walter C. Hendrix, the third incumbent, who has announced for re-election, will qualify by paying the fee within the next few days, it was said.

Dr. Gilbert and Mr. Etheridge paid the $400 entrance fee to J. D. Thomas, secretary of the Fulton county democratic executive committee, for the primary on March 10. Candidates must qualify by noon of February 17.

Radical Changes Are Now Planned In Emory Phoenix

With settlement by a faculty committee of the long controversy centering around the budget for student activities at Emory, two recommendations now are being considered. One calls for sweeping changes in The Phoenix, the literary publication, and the other for an amendment to the student body constitution which will enable a better administration of the budget.

President Harvey W. Cox suggested at the joint meetings of the trustees committee on student finance and the student activities council that The Phoenix be reorganized. He suggested that alumni and faculty members be asked to contribute and that a faculty member be appointed to advise the staff in raising the standard of the publication. The student council appointed Randolph Fort, Bill Tumin and Emmett Cartledge to consider proposed changes.

The budget passed by the university finance committee, composed of Dr. Harvey W. Cox, Dr. T. H. Jack and Dr. F. N. Parker, was identical with the budget of the two bodies which twice failed to get the necessary student vote for passage.

The annual will receive $3,784; athletics, $2,419; the student association, $953; The Wheel, the weekly student publication, $1,465; glee club, $976; campus Y. M. C. A., $732; debating expenses and expenses of publishing The Phoenix, $610 each; dramatics, $244; incidental expenses, $366.

In order to avoid a repetition of this year's battle over the budget an amendment to the student body constitution has been proposed placing the time for drawing up and passing officers have been set for February 20-21. It was announced this week by the program committee. The debate will feature an entertainment which is to be given for the visiting editors of the Emory auditorium at 8 p. m. on Thursday, the first day of the institute.

To consider the proposed change in the constitution, a committee composed of Graves Smith, chairman; Bill Woodruff and Bob Crawford has been appointed.

Tech-Emory Debate For Press Institute

Georgia Tech and Emory University will stage an intercollegiate debate during the Georgia Press institute, to be held at Emory, February 20-21. It was announced this week by the program committee. The debate will feature an entertainment which is to be given for the visiting editors of the Emory auditorium at 8 p. m. on Thursday, the first day of the institute.

The institute will open Thursday morning with a series of papers and round-table discussions by prominent Georgia editors. At noon the university will entertain at luncheon in the cafeteria. Thursday afternoon, Professor Charles L. Allen, of the University of Illinois, will conduct a clinic on the editorial problems of the country weekly.

Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy and editor of the Raleigh, N. C. News and Observer, will spend in the university auditorium at 12 o'clock Friday. Following his address, he and all of the visiting editors will be entertained at luncheon to be given by the three Atlanta newspapers.

The institute will close Friday night with a dinner at the Chamber of Commerce cafe, to be given by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and to be followed by theater parties offered by Atlanta movie houses in compliment to the visitors.

Toy Pistol Ruling Made by Harrison

The question of when is a toy pistol not a toy pistol was decided Thursday by William E. Harrison, comptroller general, in passing on the scope of a prohibitive tax of $500 imposed by the last legislature on dealers in toy pistols.

The comptroller general decided that a toy pistol was not a toy pistol when it was incapable of operation, harmless in its nature and to all intents and purposes nothing but a production of a pistol incapable of use.

He had before him on his desk an array of small arms of the toy variety to assist him in making his decision. Common cap pistols were first ruled within the terms of the prohibitive tax. Those which depend for their explosive noise upon the election of a cork from a barrel were also included. Pistols capable of discharging ammunition or other liquids would be toy pistols within the statute, Mr. Harrison said.

But, the glass containers, shaped like pistols, but which are commonly sold on trains are not toy pistols, he decided. They are nothing but imitations. Nor are metal pistols, which are sold as toys, operation, toy pistols, he said. The purpose of the law, he said, was to prevent injuries to children and the unlawful use of toy pistols. A "common sense" rule, he said, would be applied in its discharge.

Two Negroes Held For Jelly Burglary

City detectives solved a burglary of Wednesday night, Thursday morning, by trailing two negroes who the day of the burglary, entered the offices of the Bullock Preserving Company at 137 West Mitchell street, ostensibly to get a drink of water.

Thursday morning the burglary was discovered and Detectives Pat Campbell and O. D. Evans notified. Two cases of jelly and many sacks of sugar were missing. The action of the two negroes, one a former employee, aroused the suspicion of the officers, and they investigated. As a result two cases of jelly were recovered and Howard Porter, of 128 Lamar street, and Marion Hines, of 384 Foundry street, were arrested. Calloway on charges of disorderly conduct and burglary.

The stolen jelly was found in their homes and took about two days to get the sugar had been sold.

Big Switch Engine Jumps Track Here

A 365,000-pound switch engine of the Georgia railroad plunged from the track near Moore street Thursday morning when a switch split. The engine ran about 150 feet before plunging to a stop in the soft dirt there. The eight-wheeled engine was manned by Engineer J. H. Mason and Fireman J. E. Jones, who escaped injury, though their charge careened dizzily to one side. According to F. W. Douglas, master mechanic, the damage was slight.

Stuart P. Murray Wins Divorce Plea

Stuart P. Murray, head of cigar store and soda fountain business interests, Thursday was granted a first verdict in a divorce suit brought against Mrs. Ruth Murray, following a jury hearing in Judge John D. Humphries' division of Fulton superior court.

In his petition for divorce Murray charged his wife with cruelty, and alleged that on one occasion, while he was holding her to prevent her from striking him, she bit him so badly that he bears a scar. Mrs. Murray filed a cross-bill with her answer, and charged Murray with being an habitual drunkard. She is represented by James C. Davis, and Murray is represented by Branch & Howard and J. A. Miller.

Tech Naval R. O. F. C. To Visit Cristobal

Georgia Tech's unit, U. S. N. R. O. T. C., will sail to Cristobal, Canal Zone, on its annual cruise, which will start from Charleston, S. C., on June 14. It was announced by Commander Harold Jones Thursday. This is the fourth annual cruise of the avar unit. It will join the unit of Yale at Charleston, where the young men will board the battleship Texas. The trip will end again at Charleston on July 1.

Reunion Banquet For Ambulance Unit

Former members of ambulance company No. 20, organized as a regular army unit at Fort McPherson in 1917 and composed of 119 officers and enlisted men from Georgia, principally Atlanta, will gather for a reunion banquet at 7:30 o'clock Saturday, at the Piedmont hotel, it was announced by Ernest P. Tomlinson. After a few weeks' training at Fort McPherson, the company was attached to the Eight-second division at Camp Gordon, and remained with this division until the end of the war. The unit saw service in Toul, Marbache, St. Mihiel and Argonne.

"I HAVE TOLD AT LEAST 50 PEOPLE ABOUT SARGON"

MRS. M. N. WELCH.

understand why I want my endorsement of this wonderful new Sargon heard to the 'four corners of the earth!'" "I'd have the most terrible blinding headaches imaginable! My nerves were in such a frightful condition, everything around me 'went wrong,' and for a good night's sleep—that was entirely out of the question! In my misery I'd toss from one side of the bed to the other, night after night, and in the morning I'd be so weak I'd almost drop in my tracks! Many a time I thought I'd have to give up my work but I continued just on my courage. My appetite left me and often when I did eat I'd suffer misery with indigestion—I'd have heartburn that seemed like coals of fire in my throat, and gas would crowd my heart and cause it to beat so hard and fast I was frightened almost out of my senses! My liver was so badly disordered I was always bothered with constipation and I was told I had colon trouble. If I ever missed taking a cathartic any night, I'd be in for a terrible siege of biliousness that would bring on attacks of vomiting and seem to 'pile up' my whole being! I spent a lot of money on different medicines and treatments but it was all just like nothing as far as any lasting benefit was concerned, until I found this wonderful Sargon!" "I started the Sargon treatment only in December and I actually feel like a different person now! I've already gained back five pounds of the weight I'd lost. I have such world's of strength and energy my work is no task at all and I can go through with it in a happy frame of mind! My nerves are wonderfully relieved and I sleep just fine and wake up rested and hungry; and I eat anything in the world I like without the slightest indigestion!" "I took the Sargon Pills along with the liquid and they put my liver in fine condition, so I'm no longer bothered with constipation or that colon disturbance, and I never know what it is to have a headache any more!" "I've told about fifty people about Sargon and I've come all the way from Riverdale, where my husband and I own and operate a dairy and farm, to tell you how grateful I am for what this wonderful medicine has done for me!"

The above statement was made recently by Mrs. M. N. Welch, of Riverdale, Ga., to the Sargon representative at Jacobs' Main Store, 48 N. Broad St., Grant Bldg.

Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' Drug Stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

SPANIARDS PROTEST HOLD OVER OFFICERS

Demonstration Against Mayor of Seville Brings Out Troops.

SEVILLE, Spain, Feb. 6.—(P)—A demonstration this noon against a holdover appointee of the Primo de Rivera dictatorship brought cavalry patrols on the streets to preserve order. No one was injured and there were no arrests.

The disturbance began when crowds which were leaving a cathedral service observing the anniversary of the queen mother's death began cheering some representatives of the new Berenguer government who also had attended the service.

Then some students shouted: "Down with the municipal government created by Primo!"

With that a parade started to the city hall, and the students led an invasion into the office of the mayor, Manuel Diaz Molero, a Primo appointee. They demanded that he resign.

The mayor told them he had given his resignation to General Damazo Berenguer, but that General Berenguer desired him to continue until after liquidation of the Seville exposition.

Dissatisfied and continuing the demonstration, the crowd marched to the palace of the civil governor, repeating its demand. Order was restored through efforts of the police and a promise by the governor that he would telegraph the Madrid government of the crowd's wishes.

At Madrid, meanwhile, it was announced that all charges of rebellion and sedition against the Primo dictatorship were as dead as the dictatorship itself. A royal decree proclaimed general amnesty for persons accused under those charges. The decree was made known at the royal mausoleum, where the first anniversary of the death of the queen mother was being commemorated.

Under the proclamation several hundred civilians were arrested and thus freed themselves of charges and restored to their former status.

Among them is Sanchez Guerra, former premier, who headed a movement against Primo. Sanchez expressed profound thanks to the king and set about immediately to form a new political group.

Coroner To Probe Death of Singley

An inquest will be held this morning by Coroner Paul Donehue at the funeral parlors of Harry G. Poole over the body of Oscar H. Singley, Sr., 52, of 863 Bradley avenue, who died early Thursday morning in an ambulance en route to Grady hospital from police headquarters.

He was arrested by Officers C. T. Whaley and J. G. Bowman at Bankhead avenue and Chestnut street, was placed in a cell and a charge of drunkenness entered against him. About 6 o'clock in the morning he came violently ill and the ambulance was called. When it reached the hospital he was dead.

Singley, who was a painter, is survived by his widow, Nettie; four sons, Arthur, Oscar H., Jr., J. B. and G. Singley, and three daughters, Mrs. W. C. Chapman, Mrs. W. C. Netherland and Mrs. W. A. Davis, all of Atlanta.

At a late hour Thursday night no funeral arrangements had been made.

Fire Threatens Lives Of Forty Children

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(P)—Forty children attending classes at the Weightman School for Crupples were carried bodily or aided to safety today after fire was discovered in the heating system.

Flames shot three feet into the air in the central corridor of the school. No child was hurt, although half of the youngsters, terrified at sight of the flames within a dozen feet of their classroom doors, became hysterical. Many were not quieted for nearly an hour after they returned safely to their rooms.

The flames, caused by the ignition of accumulated sweepings which had settled in the pipe vent under the boiler, were discovered by Fred J. Courtney, janitor. While he fought them with a hand extinguisher, the four women teachers huddled the cripples into the wheelchairs and rushed them to safety.

Tetterine Stops Skin Itching In 2 Minutes

If you suffer from skin eruptions of any kind, pimples, itch, tetter, ringworm, eczema, etc., a pleasant ointment, known as Tetterine, containing highly effective parasite, germ-destroying and skin-healing properties, never fails to bring quick and permanent relief.

Tetterine, by its clean, cooling, soothing, antiseptic effect, kills the parasites that bore into the skin, causing irritation and itching. Tetterine is sold and guaranteed by all druggists at 60c per box.—(adv.)

WGST Auditions Will Begin Sunday

Auditions to select local talent for broadcasting over WGST, the Georgia Tech station, will begin Sunday afternoon in the Ansley hotel studios, it is announced by John Clotworthy, who will be studio director and announcer.

Mr. Clotworthy says that he invites any artists interested in radio broadcasting to communicate with him at the studios, located in the Ansley hotel, where he may be reached each morning between 9:30 and 12 o'clock.

The action against the alleged bolting members was instituted by Joe K. Mahoney, attorney and representative of the Union County Democratic Club. No action was taken regarding individual voters who bolted the democratic ticket.

EL DORADO, Ark., Feb. 6.—(P)—Charged with having either voted against the democratic nominee and for presidential electors or espoused the campaign of Herbert Hoover in the 1928 general election five members of the Union county democratic central committee were ousted today.

Two other members charged with having failed to support the democratic ticket retained their seats by a narrow margin of votes at the meeting of the central committee.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Big buying for previous speculative sellers turned wheat deliveries sharply upward today after the market had lived below bottom price records for the season. The sudden switching wholesale to the buying side of the market appeared to be more or less due to correct belief that definite steps toward establishment of a wheat stabilization corporation would speedily be announced.

There was less activity in the foreign list, although several prominent loans turned over in lively fashion. French republic 1-2s were heavily traded, selling at 1-1/2 in a turnover of about $400,000, principal amount of 1-1/2s (March), Italy 5-20s, the German republic 2-1/2s, the American Telephone and Telegraph 4-1/2s, and the National Telephone 4-1/2s.

Convertible bonds had a dull and irregular session. American Telephone 4-1/2s, closing at a point of a two-point decline, were the most active.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The new wheat advisory committee today recommended to the federal farm board the immediate setting up of a wheat stabilization corporation under the provisions of the agricultural marketing act.

William G. Kellogg, general manager of the Farmers National Grain Corporation, who was chosen chairman of the advisory committee, said that articles of incorporation for the stabilization corporation were being prepared.

The agriculture marketing act permits the federal farm board, upon application of the commodity advisory committee, to establish a stabilization corporation or recognize an existing corporation composing as such an existing corporation when it finds that the marketing situation requires it to make loans to the stabilization corporation to make the revolving fund for working capital.

The advisory committee, appointed Saturday, has been meeting since then with Chairman Alexander McKelvey, board member Sam R. McKelvey, general manager of the Farmers National Grain Corporation, and John M. Whelan, general manager of the Farmers National Grain Corporation, named secretary.

Adventures of Seckatary Hawkins

WE MUST NOT LET ANYONE KNOW THAT WE FOUND THIS DIAMOND! SAID UNCLE LUCIO, "SO KEEP MUM!" HE TOOK THE DIAMOND OFF THE LADY SLIPPER. "HOW MUCH DO YOU THINK IT IS WORTH?" ASKED DOC. UNCLE LUCIO SHOOK HIS HEAD.

I'M NO JUDGE," HE SAID, HOLDING IT UP. "BUT IT'S ALMOST AS LARGE AS A TURTLE'S EGG. I SHOULD SAY IT WOULD BRING TWENTY THOUSAND, ANYWAY." "WHEW!" EXCLAIMED DOC. "LINK, YOUR DADDY IS RICH!" AGAIN LUCIO SHOOK HIS HEAD.

HE SAID, LOOKING AT THE SKINNY GUY, "THIS DIAMOND BELONGS TO YOU, LINK. NO MATTER WHO FOUND IT, IT'S YOURS, BECAUSE IT WAS FOUND ON CATANOVA'S ROCKS, AND YOU OWN IT ALL, THE TOP OF THE GROUND AND WHAT'S UNDER."

LINK LOOKED WORRIED. "IF THIS PLACE IS MINE, I WILL MAKE MY OWN RULES. MY POP FOUND THAT DIAMOND, AND ONE OF MY RULES IS GOING TO BE 'FINDERS-KEEPERS, LOSERS-WEEPERS' SO LET MY POP KEEP WHAT HE FOUND."

DAY IN FINANCE

By R. L. BARNUM

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Stocks were strong in the early trading on the lower London discount rate and the belief that the discount rate here would be reduced. With commission houses strongly advising customers to take profits heavy selling started around 11 o'clock, running well into the noon hour. In the fourth hour a recovery started. The early losses ran from one to four points in leading shares. Stocks were well taken on the decline.

Simmons Bed, International Telephone and Gillette Razor were the steepest spots in the market. Copper shares were well bought on the belief that lower money here and abroad would increase orders for copper metal.

Cotton was down again following a break of $2 at Liverpool. Wheat was a shade lower.

Call money renewed at 4 1/2 with the supply plentiful. In the noon hour the rate dropped to 4 per cent with the outside market easier.

Pennsylvania shareholders will be asked at their annual meeting in April to approve an increase of $170,000 in the authorized stock, increasing the authorized stock from $700,000 to $870,000. Last November $72,000,000 stock was issued to shareholders with rights and $18,000,000 to employees, leaving $80,000,000 authorized but unissued. When the proposed increase is made the company will have $200,000,000 authorized but unissued stock to raise funds for improvement and betterments.

The proposed Adams-Rumely-Alis Chalmers merger is off. It was officially stated that no agreement could be reached on terms.

Employment at Cleveland was up 2.9 per cent in January. This is the first monthly increase since last August. The total is above last November but still below January of 1929.

Ford turned out 95,529 cars in January. For the last 10 days of the month production was 46,754 against 22,066 for the first 10 days. The daily schedule for this month is 7,000.

Wall Street was expecting the London news of the reduction in the Bank of England discount rate from 5 per cent to 4 1/2 per cent received here an hour before the opening of our stock market. This and the drop in the open market bill rate here on Thursday of one per cent shortly after the opening, making that rate five-eighths of one per cent below the discount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank, had increased expectations of a drop in the discount rate here at the weekly meeting of the Federal Reserve Bank directors scheduled for late in the afternoon of the day of the stock market.

In informed circles here it is understood that the directors of the New York Federal Reserve Bank wanted to reduce the discount rate to 4 1/2 per cent on Thursday, which was continued for over an hour beyond the regular time, but without getting the approval of the Federal Reserve Board at Washington.

Some Wall Street bankers and economists take the viewpoint that the cut in the Bank of England rate following the cuts made first at Paris and then at Berlin is the result of an understanding reached by central banks to make money easier to bring about stabilization in the commodity markets. That viewpoint is also widely held abroad.

While realizing that easier money will in the long run help stabilize the commodity markets with stimulating influence on general trade some of our best bankers and economists here feel that we must look deeper for the real cause of the recent downward price movements in the money market.

Professional Speculators Expected To Take Advantage of Easier Money With Readjustment in Commodities and General Trade Continuing as Dominating Factors.

ket and in the commodity markets. In such quarters it is believed that cheap money does not make for general trade unless fundamentals are right more than high money slows down general trade as long as profits may be made despite the high money rate.

Some of the best bankers and economists here at Wall Street feel that special reasons may be found for many of the lower commodity rates; that the activities of the Federal Reserve Board for example are partly responsible for the chaotic condition in wheat and cotton; that traders and consumers basing operations on supply and demand, making mistakes at times but satisfied with results over a period of years, are now afraid, sticking close to shore because of uncertainty over what will come from the artificial conditions created by the activities of the Federal Reserve Board.

Over-Production. But over-production is believed to be the real factor in the decline in the commodity markets as a whole. It is being pointed out that between 1921 and 1929, especially in this country, there was sustained recovery from war prostration, stimulated with only temporary setbacks by increasing profits. Mechanical and chemical discoveries together with widespread research work stimulated by war prostration also helped make for over-production.

Having run into over-production, readjustment started in the stock market in the autumn months, followed by continued slowing down in general trade, making for unemployment in the commodity markets and in general trade will continue the dominating factors. In such quarters and here this readjustment from the start has been welcomed; our best bankers and economists have been glad it has come and are grateful that considering all of the factors we have suffered a minimum and not a maximum of damage and woe. In such quarters the feeling is that what is now going on is a readjustment to consolidate gains made since the end of the war.

SCOTTISH RITE AUXILIARY CLOSES SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Election of Officers Is Feature of Meeting

Annual reports and election of officers featured the meeting of the woman's auxiliary of the Scottish Rite hospital, held yesterday at the Biltmore hotel. The following officers were elected: Mrs. Edgar Neely, president; Mrs. Joel Chandler Harris, Jr., vice president; Mrs. Fort Adams, second vice president; Miss Elizabeth Gregg, treasurer; Mrs. Frank M. Boston, Jr., recording secretary; Miss Billie Johnson, corresponding secretary.

The following are the new chairmen of committees of the auxiliary: Education, Mrs. Albert Waldon; gowns, Mrs. W. W. May; matches, Mrs. R. N. Callaway; social service, Miss Cleveland Zahner; mending, Mrs. C. F. Wolf; membership, Mrs. Ott Alston; Mrs. Hal Hentz; surgical dressings, Mrs. Lloyd Tompkins; library, Mrs. Frank Neely; finance, Mrs. W. C. Wardlaw; memory fund, Mrs. G. R. Argo; Christmas, Mrs. Mary Nelson Ream and Miss Katherine Erwin; press, Mrs. Albert Adams.

Under the splendid leadership of the retiring president, Mrs. Frank A. Spratt, marked progress has been made toward the goal of the auxiliary, which is the comfort and educational guidance of the handicapped young whose physical defects are so helped by the care of the doctors and nurses of the staff. It is the effort of the auxiliary to keep busy the minds of these little people with daily instruction and their hands directed toward constructive occupation.

Miss Cleveland Zahner has undertaken the follow-up contact with the outside patients. Her investigation shows that a total number of 3,925 Georgia children have been treated at the hospital; 728 were treated in 1928. The added interest of the debutantes of 1928 and of 1929 has greatly aided the work of two of the committees. Last year the amusements; this year the surgical dressings. This committee meets at the hospital every Monday and is of inestimable help in preparing the supplies needed in the operating room and clinic.

The various working committees of the auxiliary, including gowns, ways and means and the never-failing mending group, have also functioned under the skillful guidance of Mrs. Spratt.

Mrs. McClain and J. T. Dodd Wed.

Of interest to a large circle of friends is the announcement made of the marriage of Mrs. Lula E. McClain, and J. T. Dodd, which was quietly solemnized Monday, February 5, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Smith at 673 Glenwood avenue, S. E. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. R. H. Smith, and was witnessed by a few close friends. Mr. and Mrs. Dodd are now making their home at 504 Waldo street, S. E.

Gate City O. E. S. To Sponsor Dance.

The Gate City chapter of the O. E. S. will sponsor a dance this evening in the main ballroom of the Georgian Terrace. Mrs. T. A. Suttles is chairman of the dance committee and will be assisted in entertaining by Mr. and Mrs. Homer Day, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Bean, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Overstreet, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Hornbuckle and T. A. Suttles.

Little Misses Carey Relate Impressions of Buenos Aires

The photograph shows Misses Helen and Eppie Ann Carey, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Carey, who, after an extended residence in Buenos Aires, Argentina, South America, are visiting here. They formerly made their home in Atlanta. The photograph is by J. T. Holloway, staff photographer.

The atmosphere of other lands is often afforded Atlantans through the visit of celebrities or those well versed in the ways of the world. Occasionally, however, members of the younger set contribute interesting sidelights on their experience abroad.

Little Misses Helen and Eppie Ann Carey, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Carey, who have returned to the city after an absence of more than 10 years, recounted for The Constitution yesterday their impressions of life in Buenos Aires, Argentina, South America, where they have made their home with their parents for the past six years. The two attractive members of the younger set are native Atlantans, having been born here before Mr. and Mrs. Carey moved to New York city, and later to Buenos Aires to make their home.

"The residents of Buenos Aires are inclined to be a bit vain," explained Helen, the elder of the two young visitors. "Any bright afternoon they can be seen in their best apparel, which makes them even smarter looking than Americans, and all eyes will be turned to observe them as they pass by."

"The customs, amusements, sports, and schools are much the same as they are in America. The people, however, are very formal, and young girls are not permitted the liberties that they are in America. The architecture of the city is interesting, most of the buildings being subdued structures of gray cement. Many of the houses are built, as you might say, in series, small gardens, covered overhead, being introduced between. A great many people are often crowded into

Kourt of Kamelia Elects Delegates.

Emma Sansom Kourt of Kamelia met Monday evening. Important committees were appointed and delegates were elected to represent the court at the annual convention to be held in Birmingham, Ala., April 17. The delegates elected were Mrs. E. T. Stallings, secretary of the local court, and Mrs. N. E. Taylor, president. It was announced that a large delegation from the local court will attend the convention. A general report was made of the work accomplished in the past year which showed a considerable increase of funds. Plans were discussed to co-operate with other charitable institutions to assist in relieving suffering among the poor of Atlanta. It was decided by the membership to have a banquet in the near future, the date to be announced later.

The Atlanta court will sponsor a benefit bridge Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, at 193 1-2 Whitehall street; $2 is the price of a table or 50 cents per person will be charged. Reservations may be made through the following committee: Mrs. D. M. Clarke, West 2088; Mrs. W. R. Brooks, Jackson 1471; Mrs. W. A. Grubbs, West 2003-W. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. E. T. Stallings, Mrs.

Bridge Club Is Honored.

The Du-A-Mo Bridge Club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Gene E. McLeroy on Bryan street. Mrs. J. D. Dodd and Mrs. W. D. Moore won high score prize. Those present were Mrs. F. C. Shearer, Mrs. J. T. Starr, Mrs. G. W. Coley, Mrs. Spencer Turner, Mrs. J. D. Dodd, Mrs. J. R. Crumley, Mrs. A. J. Lord, Mrs. W. D. Moore, Mrs. Gene E. McLeroy and Mrs. O. L. Cook. The hostesses' gift to Mrs. McLeroy from the club was a lovely pink linen table cloth. Mrs. Spencer Turner will entertain the club at a luncheon February 11 at her home on Grant street.

Miss Spalding Honors Visitors.

Miss Constance Spalding entertained Mrs. Theodore Morrison and her guest, Miss Virginia Cameron, of Mississippi, at an informal luncheon party yesterday at the Hill House inn, on Lawrenceville road. The guests included a few intimate friends of the hostess.

W. L. Rolander, Mrs. B. E. Cook and Mrs. N. Taylor, the proceeds to go to the charity fund.

Miss Beasley Honored By Mrs. Jenkins

Miss Helen Beasley, one of this season's most attractive debutantes, was honor guest yesterday at a luncheon given by Mrs. William Jenkins, at the Piedmont Driving Club. The table was beautifully decorated with red hearts and a large silver basket holding red roses was in the center of the table, typifying the Valentine idea. Small red and white heart-shaped cards marked the places of the guests. Invited to meet Miss Beasley were Misses Ellen Bond, of Sarasota, Fla.; Sara Law, Lena Knox, Margaret Arnold, Mary Dodd, Elizabeth Dodd, Frances Howard and Jane Dillon.

Piano Pupils To Give Recital.

The pupils from the piano studios of Miss Mabelle Horton, 400 Wesley Memorial building, and 1322 Berwick avenue, N. HARD WORKING TIMBER MAN

Tells How He Was Relieved of Blinding Headaches by Taking Black-Draught.

Hopkinsville, Ky.—"I have been a user of Black-Draught for about twenty-four years, and it is about the only medicine I take at all," says Mr. Edgar Gamble, of 114 Fowler Avenue, this city.

"If I have the headache or feel the need of a purgative, I take Black-Draught. It is easy to take and quick to relieve."

"I used to have dull headaches. My eyes would burn and when I would stoop over I seemed to turn blind. This isn't much of a good feeling when one has to work, and I have had to work hard in my time, being a timber man. This work takes me from home a good deal and one never likes to get sick, especially away from home. I found the best way to avoid this was to take an occasional dose of Black-Draught, and keep the system cleansed."

"I tell all it is a splendid reliable medicine."

Thousands of others have written to tell how they discontinue symptoms, due to constipation, have gone away after they had taken Theodor's Black-Draught.

An Ailing CHILD

Are you prepared to render first aid and quick comfort the moment your youngster has an upset of any sort? Could you do the right thing—immediately—though the emergency came without warning—perhaps tonight? Castoria is a mother's standby at such times. There is nothing like it in emergencies, and nothing better for everyday use. For a sudden attack of colic, or the gentle relief of constipation; to allay a feverish condition, or to soothe a fretful baby that can't sleep. This pure vegetable preparation is always ready to ease an ailing youngster. It is just as harmless as the recipe on the wrapper reads. If you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature, it is genuine Castoria. It is harmless to the smallest infant; doctors will tell you so.

You can tell from the recipe on the wrapper how mild it is, and how good for little systems. But continue with Castoria until a child is grown.

Many Atlantans Become Members of Art Association

Many prominent Atlantans have become members of the Atlanta Art Association, of which R. L. Foreman is president, since the last "Bulletin" publication of the High Museum of Art. Evidence of the interest and appreciation of the value of the museum as a factor in the cultural development of the city and the south is evidenced by the number of Atlantans who are becoming members of the association. Two hundred new members have enrolled during the past year, according to an announcement by L. F. Skidmore, director of the museum.

Those who have joined the association since the last bulletin are: Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bradbury, Miss H. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Webb, Miss L. A. Kingsberry, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Cantrell, Mrs. Ellen M. Betty, Mrs. H. M. Gilbreath, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Keith, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Vinson and Mr. and Mrs. T. I. Harris.

The members room of the museum which has recently been equipped with chairs, tables, writing materials and current art publications, affords members of the association an assembly room where they may meet upon occasion before or after viewing the interesting exhibits which are a constant attraction at the museum, or for a chat or an informal cup of tea. The room was furnished by the beaux arts group of the museum, of which Mrs. Henry B. Scott is chairman. The museum is open to the public from 9 until 1 o'clock and from 1 until 4 o'clock throughout the week; from 7 to 9 o'clock Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, and from 3 to 5 o'clock on Sundays.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING INSTALLMENTS
Martin Hews, a legless cripple, lives in a huge mansion where his art treasures are hidden from the world. When his treasures are not purchasable, he sends criminals to get them for him. His chief enemy is Joseph, the mysterious leader of a band of thieves in London. A beautiful girl, named Rachel, in whom Joseph is interested, has deserted him and is now living in the Hews mansion under the cripple's protection. She has displayed some fondness for Hews's bodyguard, Major Owston, who tells the story. The only other woman in the house is Beatrice Smart, Hews's niece, who knows all of her uncle's secrets.

ELEVENTH INSTALLMENT.

"Do you know much about women, Owston?" he asked.

"Not a thing," I assured him.

"I rather gathered that," my employer agreed dryly. "You would be surprised then if I told you that, with the very slightest encouragement, that little girl Rachel in the west wing would be in your arms, and after that you would know all you wanted to about Joseph."

I felt the color slowly mounting to my temples. My first impulse was towards blasphemy. I tried on old trick I used when I was in the regiment and noted for a violent temper. I counted 10 before I spoke. Then I looked across at him.

"I am sorry, sir," I said, "but I wouldn't take on a job of that sort for the world."

"It's that or the open door," he snarled.

I rose to my feet.

"Sorry, sir," I regretted.

I could see the whole of his small frame quivering, and I knew he was passionately angry. He opened the drawer and drew out two 20-pound notes, which he passed over to me.

"You have earned that," he said.

"Take it and go."

I had trouble at the booking office with my two 20-pound notes, and I traveled to London with the understanding that I should pay for my ticket upon arrival. While I waited upon the platform at Liverpool street for the inspector to bring me change for one of my notes, a respectable-looking middle-aged man in dark clothes raised his bowler hat and accosted me.

"Major Owston?" he inquired.

"My name," I acknowledged.

"I am about to give you rooms, sir," he announced. "I have a taxi-cab waiting. I found that they were rather scarce, so I took the liberty of engaging one for you."

"Are you making some mistake?" I asked him incredulously.

"No mistake at all, sir," he answered confidently. "I received all my instructions half an hour ago from Breezley Mansion."

My spirits began to rise. Perhaps, after all, Martin Hews had relented. I tipped the inspector who brought me my money and followed the man out of the station. He held open the door of the taxi for me.

"You will excuse my riding with you, sir, please," he begged. "Passengers are not allowed outside."

Number 3-A, Down street," he directed the driver.

"Down street?" I repeated, as we drove off. "Quite a pleasant neighborhood."

"You have not yet visited the rooms, I think, sir?"

"I have not."

"You will find them small but quite comfortable," the man assured me. "I shall give you satisfaction. My wife is a very good cook, and I am used both to valeting and waiting at table. My name is Smart."

I have no doubt that we shall get on together excellently, Smart," I told him. "That is, if I stay."

"I hope that you will be staying the month at any rate, sir. Mr. Yardley has engaged me for your servant on trial for that period."

"Who is Mr. Yardley?" I inquired.

My companion coughed.

"I understood that he is the solicitor acting for the gentleman who rang me up from the country," he replied hesitatingly.

After that I asked no more questions. We duly arrived at our destination, and I was ushered into a luxurious suite of bachelor rooms. They were not only ready for my occupation, but whisky and soda, cigars and a variety of brand-new articles for my use in the bathroom. Mrs. Smart—a pleasant-faced, somewhat diminutive woman—came almost at once to take my order for dinner.

"I may be going out to a restaurant, Mrs. Smart," I demurred.

She looked at me in pained protest.

"The message was, sir," she ventured, "that you would probably be dining in tonight. I have been cooking in gentlemen's families for many years and always given satisfaction."

I gave my order without further comment, deciding that someone was probably communicating with me that night, and that I had better stir out. As soon as she had departed, I looked into my bedroom and found the drawers full of all manner of hosiery, ties, shirts, and collars. There were two suits of clothes and a coat from a well-known tailor, with a note to say that his cutter would come around any time if I would communicate with them by telephone, to see what alterations were necessary.

I helped myself to a whisky and soda, and, crossing to the window, looked over Broadly toward the Green Park. Every now and then I found it exceedingly hard to realize the sudden change in my position, after a year's desperate struggling. At no time, however, had the fantastic unreality of the thing appealed to me more than at this moment.

Little more than a week ago, I had been literally a beggar. The last bed I had slept in before my excursion to Breezley Mansion was in Rowton House. The sudden return to the almost forgotten luxuries of life almost took my breath away.

When I had changed to a dinner-jacket, Smart appeared with cocktails and I had encoined myself comfortably in the easy-chair when my complacency was suddenly disturbed. Smart threw open the door of the room.

"The young lady, sir," he announced.

I started at Rachel for a moment without comprehension. Then I understood the trick of which I had been the victim. A fit of fury seized me, none the less intense because of the mocking laugh that passed her lips. She had undergone a transformation so complete that her appearance alone would have kept me tongue-tied. She was wearing a small turban-shaped black hat and a fashionable black afternoon dress of some soft and clinging material. Truly, I said to myself, this man Martin Hews was the devil incarnate.

"Shall I lay another place, sir?" Smart inquired.

"No!" I shouted.

The man remained silent, but his air was of respectful expostulation. I am convinced that he understood the whole situation. Rachel only laughed.

"Do you know what you're here for?" I asked.

"I can guess," she answered.

"Your mission here, I went on, 'is to tempt me to a dinner and when you have shorn my locks—'

"When I have what?" she interrupted.

"My fault," I apologized. "Put it this way. When we are sitting together, hand in hand, or probably with my arm around your waist, swearing to tell you or Martin Hews or the cops how to lay your hands upon him. His day will come some time, and maybe I shan't wear mourning for him, but it won't be me who'll give him away. Why, Mister—I mean Henry—don't you know that's the reason why Joseph's lot has smashed Donkin's, why they'll smash any others and why the police only get one or two at a time, like they did at Breezley? They're tight-lipped, gery one of them. Two men have tried squealing, and they've been dead in 24 hours. That's where Joseph's clever. He'd swing himself, before he gave a pal away. So would every one of them. They're as wicked as you like, they're up to any dirty trick. They'd stab you in the back as soon as look at you, but they'd stand torture, as I would, sooner than turn informer. If that fool Miles hadn't been shot the other night, Joseph would have seen that he got what was coming to him in the right, though he paid him a thousand pounds in hard cash for what he'd done. He knew very well that he'd do the double cross if he didn't."

"Well, this is all very interesting," I admitted. "Pity you didn't tell it to Martin Hews."

"Likely to, wasn't it?" she scoffed. "I should have spent the evening down there moaning. Don't you like girls, Henry?"

"Look here, my child," I said, "we'd better have an understanding hadn't we? I like you, I think you're very attractive; I like you more and more every time I see you, but that's all there is to it. I'm in love with another girl."

She drew away with a laugh.

"You're all right," she declared. "Give me my coat."

I picked up the black silk wrap she had been wearing, threw it around her shoulders, and rang the bell.

"Friends, please," I begged.

"She shook her head."

"I ain't sure," she answered, as the door opened.

I had settled down with a pipe, a whisky and soda, and the evening paper when the telephone bell rang. It was Beatrice Essiter speaking from Breezley.

"Major Owston," she said, "I rang you up to say that one of my uncle's agents, his lawyer, who arranges many matters for him in town, will call upon you tomorrow morning. He will bring you some memoranda about Joseph."

31 CRACKER CONTRACTS MAILED OUT

"Let this boy do anything to me just so he doesn't knock me unconscious." That was the word passed to Referee Tom Slate by "Dutch" Dehnert, the big running guard on the Cleveland professional basketball team last night, before they began playing the Chattanooga Tectos.

Dehnert meant for Referee Slate to let "Chuck" Braidwood, of the Tectos, guard him freely, and overlook fouls.

The game started and Dehnert dropped back into the pivot position in front of his basket.

And what Braidwood did to Dehnert was nobody's business. Likewise what Dehnert did in blocking and feeding the basketball to his whirling teammates was professional football business.

It was this amazing ability to hold the ball and block off opposing guards that was one outstanding feature of the play of the world's champions.

The city auditorium last night was liberally sprinkled with basketball coaches from colleges and high schools in the Atlanta district. Big Josh Cody was down from Clemson and the entire family of coaches was over from Athens. All of them were carried away with the blocking of the professionals as well as their superb passing and shooting.

THEY BEAT THE PROS, TOO.

"And the amazing thing about the Rosenblums," commented Josh Cody, "is that they can outplay the best professional teams in the business just as badly as they outplayed the Tectos. I believe the team Bill Redd has this year could beat most of our college teams but the Cleveland crowd did not have to put out to beat them."

JOSH HAS VACATION.

Coach Cody is having an enforced vacation this week. A quarantine in effect at Clemson caused a cancellation of three of his basketball games this week—with Newberry, South Carolina and the Citadel.

As to his being sought by Minnesota and prominently mentioned in connection with the vacant coaching post at Auburn, Coach Cody was tactfully silent.

It is known, however, that Big Josh has not yet signed a contract with Clemson for next season and speculation is rife, as they say in the papers, over what he will do.

HEIGHT OF HOSPITALITY.

An interesting sidelight on the business of growing cauliflower where ears once nestled is revealed in studying the extensive "preparation" required to make Primo Carnera ready for important boxing. Carnera seems to require an abnormal amount of practice bouts.

Boxing fans and boxing officials agreed that the Italian giant needed a few bouts against what are called "pushovers" to allow him to become familiar with American ring technique and ring methods.

So Carnera was allowed to fight Big Boy Peterson in New York, Elzeor Rioux in Chicago and "Cowboy" Billy Owens in Newark by way of getting ready. These opponents were tolerantly accepted by boxing commissions and by the public as easy marks. They were just that.

The awkward Italian knocked out the first two men named in the first round. Owens was dropped in the second.

In fact, up to his "contest" last night he lacked 63 seconds of having fought a full three-minute round. Peterson and Rioux assumed a horizontal position in less time than even the most cynical fight fan had expected.

HE IS NO NOVICE.

Yet for all this generous allotment of soft opposition, Primo Carnera is no novice come to our shores. He already had fought 24 times before he reached New York.

Two of these bouts were against Young Stribling, a fair splitter of an American ringman in technique.

After splitting even with Stribling in Europe, it seems that Carnera should have been deemed capable of meeting at least some of the third flight of heavyweights instead of the eighth flight consolation bracket.

OTHERS NEEDED LESS PREPARATION.

Carnera and his handlers are entirely too cautious and are being permitted too much liberty with the alleged requirements of the cauliflower industry.

Other boxers in modern times have tackled major opposition with far less ring experience than this Italian behemoth.

Jim Jeffries tackled Bob Fitzsimmons and won the title in his ELEVENTH professional bout. Jeff had nothing much but strength and courage.

Old Jack Monroe fought Jeffries in his eighth professional engagement and defeated Tom Sharkey in his eleventh.

Luis Angel Firpo, the Wild Bull of the Pampas, and champion nickel nurer of the ring, had plenty of courage. He fought Jess Willard in his twenty-third fight, which took plenty of ambition, and met Jack Dempsey in his twenty-eighth affair. Firpo had approximately the same amount of experience as this oversized Carnera and yet he tackled the greatest fighter the ring has known.

GETTING AWAY WITH IT.

The point is Carnera actually must be good enough to meet first-class fighters and is being allowed to get away with no end of a good time by meeting extremely weak-kneed brethren.

One reads where the idea must have appealed to the St. Louis boxing commission in just that way. They have barred Carnera's advertised opponent, Tiny Roebuck, for the bout there next Tuesday night.

St. Louis says he can fight Babe Hunt, Chuck Wiggins, Jack DeMave, Art De Kuh, Jimmy Byrne or Angus Snyder, but not poor Tiny Roebuck.

So perhaps Primo Carnera will be asked soon to fight somebody fairly good.

On the other hand—why become excited over the apparent injustice when Chicago fans, for instance, paid $60,000 to see this Rioux duck a blow and lie very still for 10 seconds?

JACKETS OFF ON LONG TRIP; VANDY FIRST

Kentucky and Alabama on Slate of Tech During Trip.

By Herb Clark.

Nine Yellow Jackets packed their bags with jerseys, trunks and high hopes Thursday night and set off on a basketball trip designed to put them to the final test in their drive for a place in the Southern conference tournament and for machine-like perfection on the hardwood floors of the south.

The Jackets, who were muddled in a three-day tie for fifteenth place in the conference standings at the close of the week, have since not played a conference foe.

Tonight they will be at Nashville, where they meet the Commodore Vandy in a return game. Last Saturday the Jackets took a 46-25 decision from those same Commodores on the auditorium court. Tonight they should repeat with a victory which will send them a notch higher in the ratings.

WILDCATS NEXT.

Saturday night the Jackets carry their hopes to Lexington, in the heart of Kentucky's blue grass. The Wildcats of the University of Kentucky reside there. The Wildcats have a real basketball team, one which is in the thick of the battle for the conference lead at present. The Wildcats count on teaching the Jackets a lesson. They may. Again, the Jackets may find themselves just as capable of refusing to learn. Stranger things have happened.

Then comes a short rest period, but Wednesday the Jackets will be forced to carry on against Alabama's title-chasing Crimson Tide, which holds an undisputed claim to the lead in the race, according to present standings. Alabama, like Kentucky, will have teachings to impart, but the Jackets have shown a surpassing impudence of late and may be impertinent enough to thumb a few noses at the lads from the Capstone.

STOPPED A. A. C.

Following the game with Vandy here last week the Jackets went through one day of practice and then went out to give the bird to the Atlanta Athletic Club's basketball team at the court. Eighteen victories of the club meant nothing in the lives of the Jackets. They had few, so knew the Jackets were following the same old routine, but a continuance of their present play should land them safely in that place. And, incidentally, should mark them as potential dynamite blasts in the tournament play.

A DARK PAST.

That goes for present showings. From past showings the Jackets are not much to be expected. But past showings are past. Present work is better suited as material for building a future. And on that basis, the Jackets may safely be looked for a pair of victories on this three-game trip.

Vandy should be beaten, unless the Commodores should find an entire new system. Either Kentucky or Alabama should furnish meat for the Jackets. Maybe both. And, on the other hand, maybe neither.

This present season on the hardwood is one of dope-kicking, and of astounding things. The Jackets have done their share of the dope-kicking and may resent any dope tending to depict them as losers against Kentucky or Alabama. And the dope should give the edge to the opposition in each of these games.

What is written, but it is not to be read until the gods who write it release it for publication. Captain Sid Goldin will head the instigator crew which will be composed of Alternates Captain John Wilson, Hank Heeke, Bill Perkins, Ted Raines, Ginny Wages, Jack Warner, Tate and Ed Williamson.

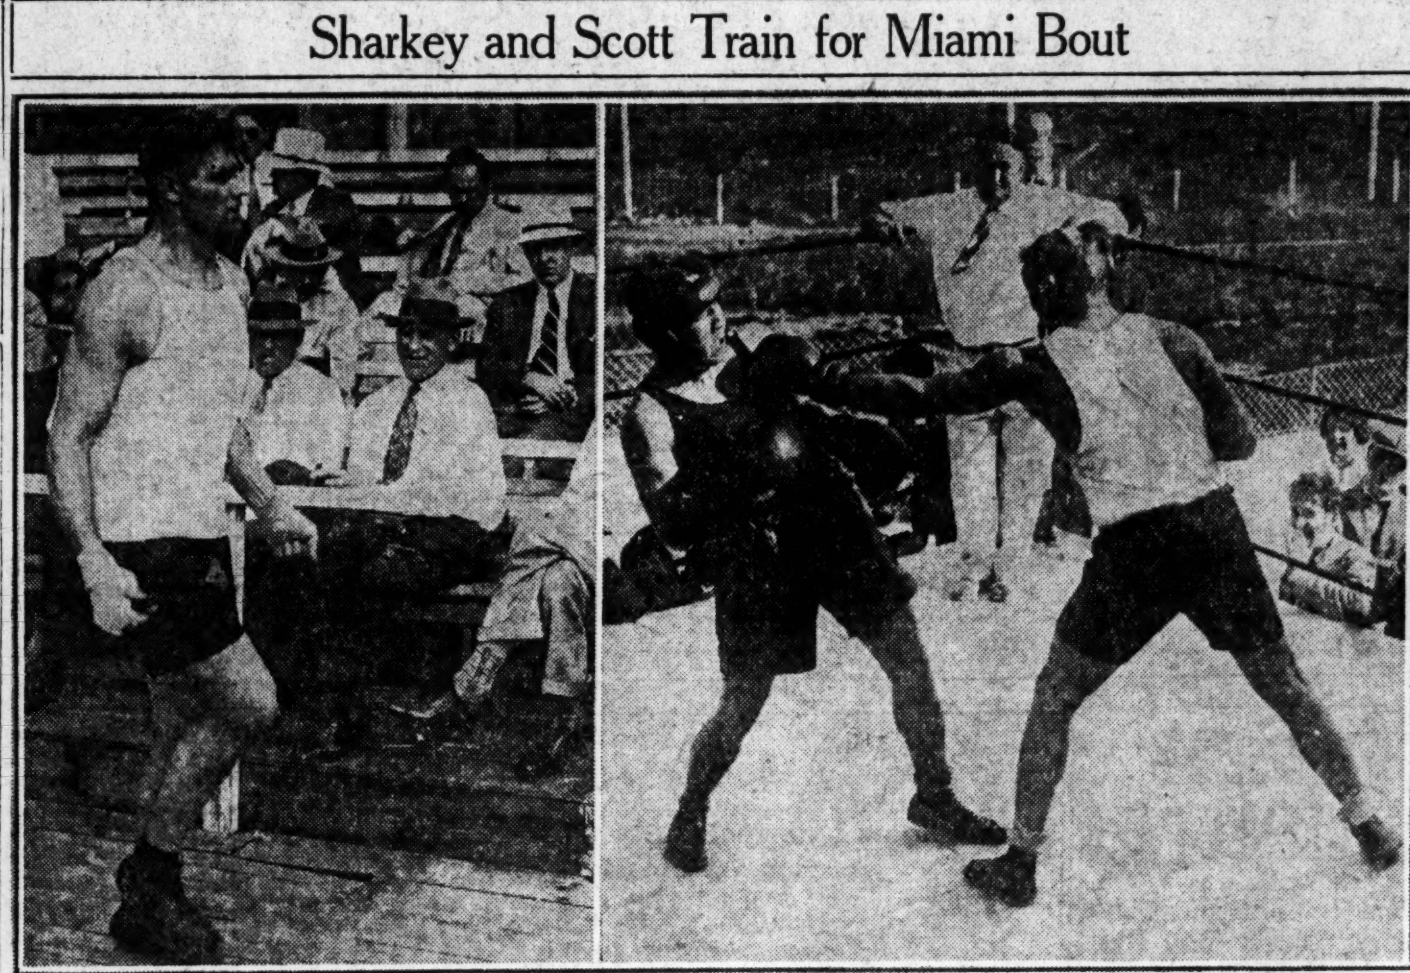

Coach Roy Mundorf, Trainer Lee Jensen and Manager Charlie Witmer will complete the squad.

Freshman Five Plays Gordon.

In the absence of the Georgia Tech basketball team today Coach Bill Fincher's freshman team will play the Gordon Institute team from Barnesville. The game will be played at 4 o'clock on the Georgia Tech court.

Tech and Georgia Fencers To Clash

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 6.—A fencing match between the University of Georgia and Georgia Tech will be held here on March 14, according to university fencing teams' schedule announced here by today by Coach Douglas D. Jeter. Besides the match with Tech, the fencing team, which is in its first year at Georgia, will meet the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, on April 9, when the team will take its only road trip of the season. The College of Charleston will be met in Charleston, S. C., April 10, and the University of South Carolina in Columbia, April 12. The variety will be made up of both foil and epee teams, while the freshmen will be limited to the foil. An elimination tournament will be held late in February, the victors to make up the university's team. Plans are now being formulated. Coach Jeter announced, to join the American Intercollegiate Association of Fencing Teams.

A. A. C. DRILLS FOR BULLDOGS

Ex-Tech Stars To Face Georgia in Athens Saturday Night.

With the sting of the Yellow Jacket defeat Tuesday night still burning, Coach Joe Bean and his Atlanta Athletic Club basketball players are leaving no stone unturned in preparing for the game Saturday night. In Athens with the Georgia Bulldogs. All the bandages have been taken from the Tuesday night stings and some rough and hard work has been done in preparation for the Saturday struggle.

A long, hard scrimmage with the scrubs was held Thursday night and another session with the Reds is on the calendar for tonight, after which the players will take a much-needed rest and prepare to leave the city at 11 o'clock Saturday morning. Several rough places on the A. A. C. machine have been given particular attention by the veteran coach, Joe Bean. The team looked much improved Thursday but it will have to improve considerably more if the Bulldogs are to be beaten Saturday.

Reports from Georgia indicate that Coach Stogman is not exactly satisfied with his team. It beat the Jackets last Saturday night but lost to North Carolina State Tuesday night. That defeat took considerable "it" out of the team and the players are ready to avenge that defeat at the expense of the A. A. C. team, an annual rival.

It will be the first time in several years that a former Georgia star has not been numbered among the A. A. C. roster. There has always been at least one Georgia player on the squad, but those places have been filled by Tech and one Olethorpe star. John Columbus (Old Man Cy) Bell, whose spectacular runs defeated Georgia in football last September; Stumpy Thompson, the Little Giant, who helped beat Georgia twice on the gridiron, and Mike Hudson and Frank Player, former Tech basketball stars, are among the collegians who will make the trip and play against Georgia Saturday night.

Delayed Houston Meet Opens Today

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 6.—(UN)—Delayed by heavy rains which made a swamp of the Rio Rico course, the Houston open golf tournament will get under way tomorrow with a field of 75 entrants playing for a low-ball amateur professional prize.

City Prep Loop To Meet Today

Plans for the city prep basketball tournament will be perfected at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon at meeting of the tournament committee in Coach Joe Bean's office at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Rosenblums Exhibit Basketball Wizardry

Pro Champions Thrill Crowd at Auditorium; Defeat Tecto Five by 34-to-29 Score.

By Ralph McGill.

There were times last night at the auditorium when the basketball followed a path that looked very much like the pattern for some of Grandma's tattling.

There were times when the basketball thudded from hand to hand, sounding like the slap of hands on rifles as many soldiers go through the manual of arms.

There were times when the basketball flitted like a lazy, big cheese and it sounded "whush, whush" as it left the hands of the passers.

There were times when it bounded about like an "inja rubber jitt on a spreg," or maybe like a soul in agony.

Oh, yes, it did that and more when the Cleveland Rosenblums beat the Chattanooga Tectos 34 to 29 last night. It did that and much more.

The Rosenblums didn't put out a great deal. They did some excellent guarding when they wanted to. They spurred and passed that basketball when they wanted to with all the dexterity of a troupe of jugglers going through the motion.

When the Rosenblums guard they guard. They are about as difficult to get through as some barbed wire.

And that passing, I asked Dave Kerr, the big coach, how in the world he taught the men to pass as they do—dot-dash-dot-dash-dot-dash.

"Just lam it in there hard," he said, "and make 'em catch it."

INSUFFICIENT. Which was Joe Lapchick, tall, with a face like a sphinx. He can take a basketball and make it curl down his arm as an elephant can curl out his trunk with a flag at the end of it.

Joe Lapchick is a very good basketball player. They are a semi-pro outfit that could perhaps take any other team in the south over the jumps. They put up some consistent, dumpy, short resistance but they weren't as good as the best basketball players in the world. That is why they seemed to be floundering.

The Tectos played some good basketball. Bill Redd, the veteran center, seems to grow better each year. He too, can do things with the basketball. So can Humphrey Phillips. They are good players. But not as good as the best in the world. I have always thought that if Bill Redd were playing with them, and had the practice with them, he would be as good.

ACCELERATION. But when the Tectos would battle up near the Rosenblums there would be some more hands slapping rifles in the manual of arms and the ball would get down the floor and fit into the basket. It would do that once or twice and then there would be some of those barbed wire entanglements for the Tectos to fight through.

There was Dutch Dehnert, conserving his strength like a wrestler. Only once did they work their pin wheel play. It revolved around and suddenly there was Dutch Dehnert out there alone under the basket. He dropped in.

SPILLER SEEKS NEW CATCHER; DEALS ARE ON

Dobbs To Await Action of Majors If Backstopper Signs.

By Ralph McGill.

Thirty-one contracts were mailed out of the Cracker office yesterday afternoon. The thirty-second is expected to be mailed today or tomorrow, depending on the outcome of deals now pending for a catcher.

The catcher deal will be the last one attempted by the Crackers until after the majors get going at spring training, according to R. J. Spiller, business manager. "We want to sign this catcher," said the Cracker business manager, "and then we will be through for a while."

NOT SOUTHERNER.

Cracker officials refused to say what league the catcher was expected to say it was not the Southern league. This dispelled any idea that Yarn Yarn was the catcher in whom the Crackers were interested. Some time ago a deal was closed for Yarn but was called off a few hours later. The big catcher is still the property of Birmingham, no one claiming him on waivers.

While nothing was said about claiming any of the Southern league players on whom waivers have been asked, it is thought that the Crackers may be interested in some of the New Orleans players on whom waivers have been requested. A player who played in several positions for the Pelicans has been offered on the list.

It was reported from New Orleans that Benny Karr, "Old Bald Bannah" himself, was on the list. He will not be claimed by the Crackers. "Bald Bannah" is a name that has been used but his effectiveness seems to be gone. He will very likely be given a trial by Jimmy Hamilton over at Mobile, and the Crackers are not interested. Or so was the report.

OUTFIELDER BOUGHT.

The Cracker squad numbers 34, counting those players who were already signed. They are three in number. E. H. McKeen, Jack Sheehan, Thompson, catcher; Ivy Wingo, catcher, and J. F. Seagraves, semi-pro pitcher.

Deals were completed yesterday morning for Ed Latzo, outfielder with Fairbury, in the Nebraska State league, last year. Latzo batted for .370 and included in the lot 42 doubles and seven home runs. He is a former Nebraska University player.

Lazo was taken on to give the Crackers a Class B outfielder who could be used in case Bob Johnson (Doc) Siler, a quite good, batting .340, is sold to the Cardinals in the National league.

EX-SOLDIER.

This seems to be the day for ex-people. First there was Ex-Wing, a catcher, and now Ex-Husband. And now Mr. Spiller is taking on an ex-soldier, Lonnie Cleveland, an infielder who completed an enlistment in the army being mustered out at Fort Benning recently, will be given a trial. He played in 75 games with the soldier boys and was quite good, batting .340. He insists, in a letter, that he will make the team.

CRACKER SQUAD.

The entire Cracker squad, including the three who have signed contracts, is as follows:

Catchers—Thompson, Yello, Wingo, Knox. Infielders—Jim Battle, Leo Bader, Dick Burris, Frank Haley, Johnny Jones, E. H. McKeen, Jack Sheehan, Ivy Griffin, Milt Stock, Jimmy Johnston and Lonnie Cleveland.

Outfielders—Jim Hammond, Melvin (Doc) Siler, a quite good, batting .340, Brown, Elton Langford, Ed Lazo, Charles Hunt.

Pitchers—Jim Brice, Nick Dumovitch, Griffin, Ernie Kook, Joe Kiefer, Red Oldham, Norcum Rauch, J. F. Seagraves, Rube Tucker, C. C. Nemitz, E. Wierman and Don Brennan.

The Cracker infield, the playing field and not the boys who play on it, has been worked over. Grass has been planted and work has started on the infield. A force of painters will start work soon on the box seats.

"We will have the prettiest park in the league when the club returns from the Douglas camp," said the Cracker business manager. "The grass will be thick and ready for play. I have arranged to pen up the three mascot goats so they will not eat it up as fast as it grows."

Johnny Dobbs, manager, is expected to be in Atlanta about the twentieth of this month.

Crawford Dies.

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 6.—(AP)—James K. Crawford, 50, oil man and former president of the Tulsa Western league baseball club, died here today.

Stumpy Receives Unique Present

A photostatic album containing 150 pictures and newspaper and magazine stories about his brilliant career was presented to John Griffith (Stumpy) Thompson, former Georgia Tech basketball star, at a luncheon of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

T. L. Johnson, Jr., who compiled the record, and who has missed only one football game at Grant field here in the last 15 years, made the presentation. He began collecting pictures and clippings of Thompson three years ago.

An album containing stories and pictures of the Rose Bowl game of New Year's Day, 1929, when Tech won the national football championship, also was presented Coach W. A. Alexander by Mr. Johnson.

FATHER SIGNS TO BOX MORRIS

Ex-Jacket Will Meet Ex-Bulldog in Ring.

Eddie Hanlon completed his February 18 fight card yesterday afternoon with the signing of "Father" Lumpkin, Tech football star of 1928 and last year professional football player, to meet Hollis Morris, former Georgia football player. This bout will go on as a special added attraction to the main bout.

In the semi-windup bout Hanlon has a giant who will rival Primo Carnera. Theo Dumas, who weighs 225 pounds, and stands 6 feet 7 1/2 inches in his stocking feet, will oppose Roy Walls, weight 155 pounds.

Young Jack Dempsey and Chief Wilbur will meet in the main event. These three bouts will be augmented by three other fights, all including good, tough boys.

"I am going to make all the fights six-round affairs," said Hanlon. "I think the fans would rather have them."

Fight fans will welcome Hanlon's return to the promotion game. He has always put on good fights and is the man largely responsible for the success attained by Ted Goodrich. It was Hanlon's promotion which built him up.

The other bouts will be announced in the near future. The "Father" Lumpkin fight is sure to be a wow. Hanlon is bringing it in as an added attraction. All Atlanta football fans are expected to be present to see the fight.

"I request that you do not allow any basketball or other games between Clemson and other institutions during the quarantine, and that you do not allow any student to leave Clemson during quarantine."

Clemson College Put in Quarantine

CLEMSON COLLEGE, S. C., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Basketball games with Newberry, South Carolina and The Citadel and a boxing match with the University of Georgia have been canceled by Clemson college authorities at the request of the state health officer, because of a death here from meningitis. No student is known to be suffering from the malady at present.

The following telegram was received from Dr. James A. Hayne, state health officer, by the college surgeon this morning:

"I request that you do not allow any basketball or other games between Clemson and other institutions during the quarantine, and that you do not allow any student to leave Clemson during quarantine."

Leland and Elder To Race Saturday

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(UN)—Cy Leland, speedy Texas Christian University halfback, and Jack Elder, Notre Dame sprinter and football star, will meet in a 60-yard sprint Saturday night in the Millrose A. A. games at Madison Square Garden.

Leland has come 2,000 miles to compete in the event. The two football stars have been drawn in the same heat, one of two 60-yard heats which will determine four finalists for the deciding distance of 50 yards.

In the first heat, Howard Kress of the Cleveland A. C., Jimmy Daley of Holy Cross, Chester Bowman of Newark A. C., and Leigh Miller of the Hamilton (Ont.) Olympic Club are to compete. John Fitzpatrick, Canadian Olympic athlete, and Le-moine Boyle of the University of Pennsylvania are in the heat with Elder and Leland.

Pete Latzo Signs To Fight Johnson

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Pete Latzo, former welterweight champion, who ate his way into the light-heavyweight division, signed today to meet Larry Johnson, heavy-hitting Chicago negro, in the main 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden February 21.

The match replaces a bout scheduled for that date between Al Ridgeway, of Jersey City, N. J., and Kid Chocolate, Cuban, which has been postponed indefinitely.

Lazo is attempting a comeback after a lay-off of over a year due to a fractured jaw, suffered in a bout with Jimmy Braddock.

Billiard Play-Off Set for Seattle

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Playoffs for the Pacific coast amateur three-cushion and 18.2 balling billiard championships have been awarded to Seattle, Wash., by the National Billiard Association of America. Both will be held late this month.

Robert Fouts, of Los Angeles, winner of the southwest 18.2 title, will meet the winner of the northwest tournament, for the right to represent the coast in the national tourney at St. Louis.

Hall and Ken Appel play Ray Stone and Irving Raymond, Columbia University, Coggeshall and Richard Murphy, Utica, N. Y., meet Ed Burns and Reg Talmage, New York.

N.A.P.S. Team Meets Athens High Tonight

The North Avenue Presbyterian school girls' basketball team will meet the strong sextet from Athens High school tonight at 7:30 o'clock on the Henry Grady court. Both teams are very strong this season and a hard-fought battle is expected.

Recently the N. A. P. S. team opened its season with a decisive victory over the Sacred Heart team.

HUNTER, HALL IN SEMI-FINAL OF NET MEET

New Jersey Youth Hard Pushed To Capture Match.

By Ted Vosburgh.

Associated Press Sports Writer. NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Twice within a single point of defeat, Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., co-favorite with Frank Hunter for the national indoor tennis championship, gained a hard-won place in the semi-final round of the title tournament at the seventh regiment armory today.

Ed Jenkins, New York youth, with no national reputation, caught the former Canadian indoor champion off his guard and had him tottering on the brink of defeat. Hall finally took control and pulled out the match at 9-11, 13-11, 6-0.

Qualifying to meet Hall in the semi-finals tomorrow, Julius Seligson, Lehigh student, who once held the national intercollegiate crown, eliminated the lone midwestern standard-bearer, Harris Coggeshall, of Des Moines, Iowa, 6-1, 6-2.

In the other half the New Rochelle publisher, Hunter, who holds the rank of America's second best player largely, came through along with Perrine Rockefeller, one-time Colgate star.

Hunter's victory over Eugene McAuliffe, ex-Fordham player, at 6-3, 8-6, produced some good tennis, against Herbert Bowman, seeded fourth, Rockefeller, who is seventh in the seeded list, produced something of a surprise by winning 6-4, 6-3.

In the doubles quarter-finals, Hall and Kenneth Appel, South Orange, beat Irving Raymond and Raymond Stone, Columbia University, 6-3, 6-2. Tomorrow they will meet Coggeshall and Dick Murphy, Utica, N. Y., who won from E. W. Burns and Reg Talmage, New York, 6-4, 9-7.

Hunter and Harold Throckmorton, New York, top seeded pair, lost to Walter Swarbill and Stanley Harte, New York, 13-11, 4-6, 6-4, while Rockefeller and Cullen defeated Bob Considine, Washington, and Ernest Kuhn, New York, 7-9, 6-3, 7-5. The winners meet in the upper half semi-final tomorrow.

Georgia Lacrosse Team Invades East

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 6.—The University of Georgia lacrosse team will invade the east during the winter holidays, playing games with the University of Virginia, University of Maryland and possibly New York University. Coach Ira C. Nicholas stated here today.

The University of Maryland game will be on April 19, and the University of Virginia contest is slated for April 21. Efforts are being made to schedule again a game with New York University in New York city. Twenty-five players will be taken on the trip by Coach Nicholas.

Later in the season games will be played with the lacrosse teams of Fort Benning and Georgia Tech.

DWYER SEEKS KEENEY PARK

Reports Confirmed That New Yorker Will Buy Florida Track.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Confirmation was received from New York today that a group of sportsmen, headed by William V. Dwyer, of that city, was negotiating for purchase of Keeney park racing plant near here.

The consideration was said to be around $150,000 and it was planned to hold a spring meeting at the track beginning in March, after the close of the racing season at Hialeah. A 15-day season is planned.

Dwyer is owner of the New York American hockey club and also owns the Mount Royal racing track at Montreal, Canada, and the Montauk stud farm station. A member of Dwyer's organization, was said today to be en route here to take over the plant and prepare it for the racing meet. Keeney park's last racing season ended after six days last December when Frank A. Keeney, owner, suddenly announced cancellation of the remainder of the scheduled 27-day meeting, asserting his decision was due to threatened court action over the method of wagering carried on at the track.

MY FAULT

Here Is How I Corrected My Greatest Golfing Weakness.

By Walter Kozak, Metropolitan Professional Champion.

This is the twelfth of a series of articles written by famous amateur and professional golfers, telling how they overcame outstanding faults in their play.

Like perhaps the majority of golfers I soon discovered that my greatest weakness was putting. It was a weakness I had to overcome, or my hope of taking a place with the leaders would be dissipated. It was discouraging, attempting to iron out the wrinkles which stubbornly resisted my best efforts. Being young, I sought the advice of the recognized leaders. But I was in more of a quandary than before, because each had a different remedy. I tried all, and my putting was as bad as ever.

I tried putting with the weight on the left foot, then on the right foot. I tried everything, even down to Leo Diegel's peculiar stance, and still I was a poor putter.

The cure came by accident and was a great surprise to me. I was standing in the shop one afternoon during a lull in the almost constant instruction periods of a professional's life. One of the better players of the club to which I was attached, a player noted for his putting, strolled in and offered to put me for a small side bet on each hole. I selected a putter at random from a long row of clubs, went out on the putting green and proceeded to sink them from all distances. I hadn't noticed until then that I had an aluminum putter, whereas before I always had used a putting cleek. From that day on I have been known as a good putter.

Naturally I stuck to the putter. I selected by accident. I gave it the first real test in the Metropolitan P. G. A. It didn't fail me. Although I was thrilled at defeating such players as Gene Sarazen and Joe Turnesa, I realize that if it had not been for sensational work around the greens I never would have won that championship.

The right putter is important. The feel and the balance mean a lot. The only way you can make sure which is best suited to you is to try them all. I'm certain that if I went back to the old cleek I'd miss them again. I may be kidding myself, but you have to try yourself a lot to get by in this game. It is certainly 70 per cent mental. I've proved that in my own case, and I've proved it to many others exclusively in this. Since he has learned not to worry he has become about the best money player in the game.

Racing Fans Fly To Havana Track

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Feb. 6.—(AP)—A group of winter visitors here today proved themselves horse-race fans to the ultimate degree.

The party, which included the first race at Miami Jack Club's Hialeah track, were driven to a local flying field, where they took a plane for Havana and saw the last race of the day at International park.

Included in the party were John McE. Bowman, New York; John J. Mitchell, of Chicago, and Mrs. Mitchell (the former Lolita Armour); Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wrigley, Chicago; Charles M. Moon, Coral Gables; Miss Oliver Atwater, New York, and Oliver Harriman, New York.

Green Mountain Jim Wins Florida Show

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Green Mountain Jim, a Scotch setter owned by Lyndon R. Connell, New York city, walked away with the honors in the second annual dog show conducted by the Hotel Ormond Kennel Club today. He won the cup for the best dog in the show as well as the award for the best male entered, leading a field of over three-score dogs.

Mrs. W. K. Perkins, Daytona Beach, retired from the ring after the best female had been judged with her Boston bull, Perkins Cinnick, the proud possessor of the first cup award in this class.

The highest prize in the puppy class went to Scottie X, a Scotch terrier, owned by General George E. Hurlburt, Daytona Beach.

Indian Worries. Cleveland is worried about its catchers. Luke Sewell batted well in 1927 but fell off 57 points the next year and 34 points more last season.

HAAR LEADING DIXIE SCORERS

N. C. State Star Bags 82 Points for Top; Doodle Is Second.

Registering 30 points in three games during the past week, Harry Haar, veteran North Carolina State forward, boosted his eight-game total to 82 and displaced Clarence "Doodles" Thomas, of Clemson, as Southern conference high scorer.

The lanky Haar, only experienced sharpshooter left over from the 1929 championship Carolina squad, has served to steady the youngsters of this season's team and lead them to victory in their past three games.

"Doodles" Thomas, speed merchant of the Clemson quintet, played in only two games but picked up 13 points and followed in second place with 72 points.

Leigh Williams, the six-footer from Washington and Lee, retained his position rating by adding 9 points in his single contest to bring his mark to 60 for five games.

Georgia's pair of basket shooters tied for fourth, with 54 each. Captain Palmer totaled on 15 points in a couple of games, while Sanford averaged 11. Cox, Washington and Lee's brilliant forward, followed with 53 in five games.

Harrison, of Virginia, although playing on a team which has won but one of its seven engagements, has been hanging away at the baskets with such regularity as to give him seventh place with an even 50 points in seven games.

J. Brown, of Virginia institute, has a better average than any of the other leaders. Playing in only three games, he has scored 43 points, or an average of more than 14 points per contest.

The record for points registered in a single encounter remains with Cox, of Washington and Lee, who sank 10 field goals in a recent game with Virginia. Both Croson, of Duke, and Williams have scored 18 points.

The following scores, including games of Tuesday night:

Name	Team	Points
Haar, H.	N. C. State	82
Thomas, C.	Clemson	72
Williams, L.	Washington and Lee	60
Palmer, C.	Georgia	54

Miss Hicks Decides To Give Up Title

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Miss Billie Hicks, Hewlett, L. I., and champion of Miami women golfers, will not defend her title in the annual Miami women's golf championship that opens here Monday, it was learned today.

Maureen O'Leary, New York, Miami champion in 1928 and twice winner of the metropolitan ladies' championship, however, will attempt to regain the title that Miss Hicks won last year.

Among other prominent women golfers who have entered the tourney is Mrs. Melvin Jones, Chicago, former north and south women's champion.

Finals Are Reached In St. Augustine Meet

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Miss Edith Hopwood, Uniontown, Pa., will meet Mrs. Bernard R. Howe, New York city, in the finals of the women's handicap tournament here tomorrow.

Miss Hopwood won her way into the final round by a 4-and-2 decision over Miss Allyn Smith, New York city, who was one of the two players to tie for the medal round of the tournament.

Miss Hopwood was able to defeat her opponent without the necessity of using either of the two handicap strokes conceded to her.

Mrs. Howe entered the finals upon a default from Miss Ella K. Banning, Cincinnati, Ohio, co-winner of the qualification medal with Miss Smith.

YOUNG PLAYERS CARRY HOPES OF PHIL CLUB

Bill Baker, Owner, Sees Better Times Ahead. Likes Shotton.

By Walter Trumbull.

(Copyright, 1935, for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.) NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—"No," said William F. Baker, owner of the Phils, "I don't claim that we will win the National league pennant this season. Experience counts for a lot. My club is young. Leave out Williams and I doubt whether the players average over 25. But I do believe that, just as we stand, we have a first division team."

"I hope that we will get off to a more fortunate start than we did last season. You may remember how we suffered from illness and injuries. We could not get going for some time. This year we should do better."

"SHOTTON IS OKAY."

"But Shotton is a thoroughly satisfactory manager. He has the ability to recognize talent and the patience to develop it. I never have known a better handler of young players. Bawling out a man doesn't really prove him. Shotton doesn't employ that method. He takes the time to talk quietly to a player and explain his work. Shotton is a fine leader."

"Of course, I don't know just how well some of our men will be good last year will be this year. Sometimes younger has one good season and then never has another. Success has spoiled a number of men. They get to thinking that they are so good that they start in to live on brief reputations. And there always are plenty of persons ready to tell them what stars they are until they get to depending upon their ears instead of their brains."

WHAT STARS DO. Mr. Baker is right about this. Players who really are good in any game do not depend upon the opinions of others regarding their ability. You will find that most of the real stars are busy trying to make themselves even better. They are not satisfied just to have one good day, month or year. They are always looking for work harder at their jobs than the average man and every one of this sort finds the hardest person to satisfy is himself.

When other players were still on their way to the park Ty Cobb used to be out on the diamond practicing batting. If there was nobody else around he would get some kid to throw balls to him. Even in his matches Tilden used to practice tennis strokes. When he was undisputedly the greatest tennis player in the world he never was satisfied. He wanted to be still better.

The great golfers have put in countless hours of practice. Great kickers have taken footballs home with them during vacation and worked for them. Yet, without practice, they knew they could make the team. Tunney trained seven years for Dempsey.

GET TOO GOOD. But there are men who, after one victory or one good year, figure that they have graduated from effort. They spend their time thinking how good they are instead of how much better they may become. They place an exorbitant value on one past performance, which they may never again equal.

For example, I know of one pitcher whose first year in the big leagues was brilliant. He didn't know what he was doing. I imagine around $4,000. His club thought that it was properly recognizing his work when it offered him $7,000 for this season. They tell me he is demanding $20,000. If he had two or three years of achievement behind him it might be different; but there is no assurance that he will do anywhere near as well this year. That is still to be demonstrated. He will not get what he asks, but probably will figure that he has been badly treated.

"How about Alexander?" I asked Mr. Baker.

"I believe that he will be of real assistance to us," he replied. "Alex and I always have maintained the most friendly relations and I have received some enthusiastic letters from him. We are trying to reform Alexander. All we ask from him is a real interest in our club and I think we'll get it. We have long needed a pitcher of Alexander's experience and ability to use in tight spots."

"All the players work for Shotton. He has the ability to make them anxious to win the flag. They have their share. I think that Alexander will be his share."

"The Cubs, Cardinals and Pirates all expect to win the flag. They have secured me and they will. But each of them has been kind enough to assign us a place close back of them. That, at least, is something."

Company Teams Tied at G. M. A.

A 40-yard pass from Ransom to Isbell on the last play in the game enabled B company to tie a combined team from the other companies at G. M. A. Thursday afternoon in the company championship football game. It was the second tie game in two weeks that the teams have played.

Thursday both teams scored seven points.

A chicken dinner was to be given the winners of the company championship, but since there is still a tie between the two it is likely that both teams will be given the dinner. An effort was made to play an extra period Thursday afternoon but after a conference between the two coaches it was decided to wait until another date to play.

No action had been reached Thursday night as to whether or not the tie would be played off.

It was one of the hardest fought football games that has been played on the G. M. A. gridiron. Park scored for B company on an off-tackle play and a run of 30 yards just as the whistle called time for the first half.

Both scores were made on the last play of the first half and the last half of the game.

There were no outstanding stars of the game and every player performed like varsity football players. None of the varsity or scrub squads were eligible to participate in the game and the coaches were selected from the varsity squads.

Disqualified.

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Frankie Genaro, New York flyweight, was disqualified on a foul in the eighth round of his 10-round bout with Harry Stein, of Germany, here tonight. The referee disqualified Genaro because he had been warned several times for low punches.

Babe To Celebrate His 36th Birthday In Florida Today

ST. JETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Babe Ruth is preparing to cut himself a piece of cake tomorrow. It will not be a slice of Colonel Ruppert's profits in the New York Yankees, of which he desires $85,000 a year on a three-year contract, but a slice of birthday cake.

The home run king will be 36 years old tomorrow and will leave his daily rounds of golf long enough to participate in a birthday party in his honor, arranged by Adolph Grant, of New Rochelle, N. Y., a wealthy admirer of the hambo.

The babe insists he is not worrying over the dispute between himself and owners of the baseball club about the little matter of salary.

"About that contract, I've nothing to say," said Ruth today. "I'm mum and the next move is Ruppert's. He insisted, though, that he was serious in his demands for an increase of some $15,000 per year. 'So they think I'm kidding 'em, eh?' asked the hambo, here to wish him well, and see what Ruppert says," said Ruth, eyeing a sturdy golf club.

Colonel Ruppert is due here next week to talk to the home run king about salary matters. Ruth says he will stick by his terms but will retire unless the Yankees meet his newest salary demand and declares: "It all depends on Ruppert."

Aside from the birthday celebration tomorrow, there will be a round of golf and after that, the babe said, he would talk again about his mighty tee shots.

Detailed plans for the birthday party have not been announced. The occasion will mark the end of Ruth's thirty-fifth year and his fourth major league baseball campaign.

Camello Arrives For Risko Fight

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Training camps for Madison Square Garden's second "battle of the palms" February 17 took on a South American atmosphere today with the arrival of Vittorio Camello, Argentine boxer, and a squad of countrymen who make up his training crew.

Camello came to Miami for the bout that he and Johnny Risko will present as a semi-final to the Sharkey-Scott heavyweight elimination encounter. Camello's manager, Alexander Guessi, secretary and interpreter, Hannibal Deval, whom Camello brought with him from the University of Argentina, a Spanish chief completed the party.

Camello will train in Coral Gables at the University of Miami. Jack Sharkey and Phil Scott went through strenuous training sessions today, employing a routine program of road work and exercise in the ring with light and heavy bags.

Bob Young Leaves For Millrose Race

BY "BUCK" ANDERSON. ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 6.—Bob Young, Captain of University of Georgia lacrosse team and winner of the Southern conference five-mile road race for the past two years, left here this morning for New York city, where he will take part in the Millrose games Saturday night. Young is participating in the events at the invitation of the sponsors of the games, which will draw leading athletes from all sections of the country.

Young is holder of the A. A. U. mile-run record for the southeastern division, and went to the finals in the Olympic tryouts two years ago, being defeated after he had led until the last lap of the race, only to stumble and lose the contest. He has won every dual race in which he has represented Georgia during the past two years and holds the unique record of never being defeated in dual meet.

In addition to holding the state record for the half-mile and mile, Young recently broke his own record for the conference five-mile road race, in the annual cross-country meet at Chapel Hill, N. C. Young, who was a star athlete at Lanier High school, will contest in the two-mile run at the New York games.

Meeting Delayed In Cotton States

MONROE, La., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Due to a misunderstanding in dates, the Cotton States league meeting was not held here today but instead will convene tomorrow at noon. President Frank A. Scott announced on his arrival here tonight.

The officials will discuss the 1936 playing schedule; decide on the eight starting clubs; name the new members being Pine Bluff, Ark., Greenville, Miss., or Port Arthur, Texas. Jackson, Miss., is expected to keep its franchise in the loop, and all plans will be completed by tonight.

Tonight most of the team presidents, and secretaries were registered here, with the rest due in Friday morning. This promises to be the last session before the monthly meetings are held here during the regular playing season.

TEAMS TO MEET ON TECH COURT AT 8 O'CLOCK

Decatur Plays at Marietta and U. S. B. Invades Gainesville.

By Roy White.

Prep basketball fans of the city will have their last opportunity tonight at 8 o'clock on the Georgia Tech court to see Tech High and Boys' High clash on the basketball court, unless the two should meet in the city prep tournament.

Boys' High is one up on the Smithies and leads the league with eight victories and only one defeat, while Tech High has five victories and three defeats on its record.

Each of the prep teams play the other during the regular season and this will be the second meeting between the Smithies and the Hurricane. There is nothing at stake, except the leadership of the league and the fact that it is another of those Tech High-Boys' High battles.

Marietta and Decatur are scheduled to play a double-header tonight on the Marietta court and University will journey to Gainesville to play Riverside Military academy.

There is no major basketball game in the city tonight and it will be a good opportunity for the public to see the Tech High-Boys' High in action. The two schools are as keen rivals as Georgia and Tech and all previous records and comparisons count for nothing when the two meet.

Boys' High is coached by Dave Johnston, one of the best in the prep league, and Tech High is coached by Claude Tolbert, another of the best and who has piloted the Smithies through several seasons to city and state titles.

LITTLE DIFFERENCE. There is little to choose between the two teams. Boys' High has a smooth working combination in Katz and Bothwell at forwards, Gatlin at center and Cullen at guard. When Smithies is stopped the other breaks through with the aid of Gatlin. In several games Tuesday when the field goal has been left to Captain Johnston and he carried his team through in fine style.

Coach Johnston has several capable reserves and his second team has made a creditable showing every time it has been inserted in a game.

Captain Jack English, at forward for Tech High, set a new prep league scoring record Tuesday when he shot 31 points against Fulton High. His team scored only 34 points in the game and the other three were fouls.

English is a powerful forward, a shooting field goal from every angle. Chambers makes an excellent running-mate for England and is one of the best guards in the league. His plays center, and while he is not as tall as some of the others he gets his share of the tip-offs.

B. H. S. Increases Lead in Race.

Boys' High increased its lead in the city prep basketball league Thursday with a 39-to-23 victory over Russell High on the Henry Grady court. The game was devoid of features, except for the excellent shooting of the Russell High team. Boys' High played a listless game for the most part.

After piling up an apparently safe lead Coach Johnston sent in a substitute team that failed to increase the margin of victory.

Russell fought a much better game than at any time this year. The East Point quintet made a large percentage of its field goal attempts good and its guarding was above par.

Katz and Captain Johnston played the best game for Boys' High, while Crawford, Zeigler and Ellington played excellent basketball for the losers.

BOYS' H. (23)..... Russell (23) Katz (20)..... Crawford (9) Bothwell (8)..... Ellington (8) Gatlin (10)..... Cullen (11) Stacey (1)..... Zeigler (4) Stacey (1)..... Cochran (1) Substitutions: Boys' High, Denham (2), Gant (1), Smith (1), Glenn (2), none. Referee, Doyle.

Cadets Sink Fulton, 45-18.

Georgia Military academy won its second basketball game in two days when Fulton High was defeated, 45 to 18, Thursday afternoon on the Wesley Memorial court. The Cadets defeated University School Wednesday at College Park and left the cellar position of the league for the Bluebirds.

Hackney, Gantt and Suddeth were the stars for the College Park team. Suddeth at guard was high scorer with 12 points and topped Hackney by only a point, while Gantt was only two points behind the leader.

G. M. A. played a jam-up game throughout and was never in danger of losing. The Cadets piled up a 20-to-8 score in the first half and practically coasted through the second half. Coach Fungus used a large number of substitutes in the last half.

Fulton fought hard in the first half but in the second the county lads were unable to locate the basket with any consistency. They scored only three field goals in the second half and two of those were in the last minute of play when Harrison and Roberts dropped long ones.

Lindsay at center played good ball for the losers.

ROM

ONLY 17 RUM SUSPECTS OF 104 FACE COURT

Nine More Oklahomans in Conspiracy Trial Are Released.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 6.—(AP) The little army of defendants in the Pottawatomie county liquor conspiracy trial in federal court here, its ranks thinned from the original 102 to 17 by pleas of guilt, dismissals, suspensions of demerits, decisions and death, today fired the opening guns in its battle.

Cases against six of the defendants were relinquished voluntarily today by Roy St. Lewis, United States district attorney, who explained he could not produce sufficient evidence against them. Three more were released from the indictment by United States Judge Edgar S. Vaughn, who sustained defense demerits.

Still in the defense trenches, however, were Randall Pittman, county attorney, and Frank Fox, former sheriff of Pottawatomie county, involved by government witnesses as commanding chiefs of the alleged ring.

The testimony indicated had exacted tribute from both the wholesale and retail ends of an enterprise that undertook to slake the thirst of oil field workers.

R. L. Sherrill, a former policeman of Earlsboro, today denied the testimony of Mattie Wilson, an Earlsboro negro woman and self-confessed bootlegger, and her 10-year-old daughter that Sherrill and Robert Limbrocher, a defendant, had broken open the child's china bank to obtain $5, asserted to be due them for "protection." Limbrocher has not been arrested. Sherrill denied knowledge of any conspiracy for controlling the sale of liquor in Earlsboro, a Pottawatomie county town.

Beavers Today Celebrates 46th Wedding Anniversary

The government dismissed the cases against Howard Jones, Happy White, Jess Hall, G. D. Hopps, Bill Hurst and Sherman Ives, alleged bootleggers. Defense attorneys immediately afterward argued demerits to the charges against the remaining defendants.

George Enoch, United States commissioner here, on the federal charge of aiding and abetting, remained today in the custody of Frank Grall, Seminole county evidence man. Gordon was arraigned today before George Enoch, United States commissioner here, on the federal charge. He pleaded not guilty and his bond was fixed at $5,000.

Both were based on statements of Homer Knappengerger, former mayor of Earlsboro, and Clarence Burdett, former chief of police of that oil boom town, that Gordon had been paid $2,300 in three installments to "lay off" the alleged conspirators when he was sent by order of Henry S. Johnston, then governor of Oklahoma, to Pottawatomie county to investigate reports of a lawless condition.

A. M. E. Church Holds
Oratorical Contest

An oratorical contest, with young people of the church participating, Thursday night featured the program of the "Allen Week" and Founders' day ceremonies of A. M. E. church. Services were held at Cosmopolitan church, with George A. Sewell, master of ceremonies.

The Atlanta Ministers' Union, each day this week, has sponsored a program at different A. M. E. churches in celebration of the 151st anniversary of the church's existence.

Actress Undergoes Blood Transfusion

MONROVIA, Cal., Feb. 6.—(UPI) A blood transfusion to aid Mabel Normand, film comedian, in her fight against tuberculosis was performed today at the Pottenger sanitarium. The transfusion was pronounced successful by Dr. Walter Bren, of Los Angeles.

It was said that Miss Normand has been showing some improvement of late, but that her condition still is serious. There was no indication when she will be able to leave the institution, where she has been confined for the last year.

John S. McClelland Is Offered for Re-election as Head of No. 78.

John S. McClelland was nominated for re-election as exalted ruler of Atlanta lodge No. 78, B. P. O. E., at the regular meeting of that body Thursday night. His name was placed in nomination by Grand Exalted Ruler of all Elksdom, Walter P. Andrews.

Nominations were made for all 1830 officers, and additional names may be presented each Thursday night during February for state officials. Election of the 1930 officers will be held the first Thursday in March.

Others nominated Thursday night were: L. J. Bailey, esteemed leading knight; William T. Jordan, esteemed loyal knight; Joseph R. Cooke, esteemed lecturing knight; R. E. Lee Reynolds, nominated for re-election as secretary; R. B. Cunningham, treasurer; W. C. Cummings, tiller; John S. McClelland, representative to the lodge; and Theo Mast, alternative representative to grand lodge.

Physician Attacks
Dry Law Invasions

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—(AP) Dr. Charles B. Reed, president of the Chicago Medical Society, in an article in the current issue of the Illinois Medical Journal, assailed congress for invading states' rights in regard to medicinal liquors and for "dictating to competent and honorable physicians."

"Full power over medicine is the right of the individual state," Dr. Reed said, "and has never been shared with congress." The doctor said congress had invaded states' rights in the adoption of the 18th amendment, proceeded to step into the field of the states and snatch from them their inherent power over liquor for medicinal purposes.

Dr. Reed said a law by which "an unscrupulous legislature dictates to the science of medicine and takes from a scholar his rights cannot be in consonance with liberty."

Sailfish Club Sends
Hoover Three Boats

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 6.—(AP) The boats of the Sailfish Club of Florida, will leave Palm Beach tomorrow morning for Miami, where they will await the coming of President Hoover. They are expected to proceed from Miami to Long Key, where they will be at the disposition of the president, and it is understood these craft will form the actual work of the president's party.

The boats are owned by Captain Herman Gray and all were under the command of the president's party. Among those holding charter boats for the president's party are: Frank Duff Frazier, Charles Amory, J. Leonard Replage, David McCulloch and Jay Carlisle.

Florida Court Sends
Erring Georgian Home

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 6.—(AP) J. P. Fletcher, who came to Miami from Georgia, is going back to Georgia to stay, Federal judge Alexander Akerman told him yesterday.

Fletcher appeared in court under four indictments of violating prohibition laws. Judge Akerman sentenced him to pay a fine of $150 each on two of the charges. A third charge brought a sentence of 11 months in the county jail while the fourth indictment was dropped.

Judge Akerman suspended the jail sentence on condition that Fletcher return to Georgia and stay. He said he would allow Fletcher to remain in Florida for a short time to straighten up his affairs here before leaving.

"You were a good fellow up there," Judge Akerman said, "but you slipped pretty badly when you came down here. I think it would be best for you if you went back to that country up there and stayed, the judge added. Judge Akerman said he thought sixty days would be a reasonable time for Fletcher to straighten up his affairs for moving.

Justice Department
Will Probe Radio

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP) Intensive investigation of the Radio Corporation of America is being pushed by the department of justice to determine whether the corporation's control of 3,400 patents involves violation of anti-trust laws.

The senate interstate commerce committee was informed of this by letter today by John Lord O'Brien, assistant to Attorney-General Mitchell. He said the department would institute proceedings to prosecute the corporation if it concludes they are "justified."

Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, said subsequently that if the department does not take the case to the courts, his committee would give the matter "further consideration."

"We will ask why the department concludes it cannot act if it should do so," he continued, "and if we find that existing legislation is not adequate, we will see what can be done about it."

Father Slain by Son
For Abusing Family

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 6.—(AP) A father of four children who quarreled with his family because there were "too many mouths to feed for what was coming in," was shot to death last night by one of his sons.

The son, Gustav Tietz, Jr., called home from a basketball game by his mother, found the father abusing the family. The elder Tietz advanced on the son with an iron bar. The youth seized a gun and killed the father. Young Tietz was held without charge.

Atlanta Elks Lodge 119 Billion Cigarettes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP) Almost 1,000 cigarettes for each man, woman and child in the United States were taken from bond during the 1929 calendar year.

Figures made public today by the internal revenue bureau showed that the 119,049,105,104 taken from bond last year were 18,122,350,453 more than during 1928.

At an average cost of 13 cents for each package of 20, the 1929 cigarette bill would have taken $780,000,000 out of the pockets of the smokers.

In contrast, however, the amount of snuff taken out of bond last year dropped 619,000 pounds as compared with the previous year, the total production amounting to 40,036,914 pounds. Manufactured tobacco also decreased about 6,000,000 pounds to a total of 337,718,425, and the production of playing cards dropped approximately 400,000 packs to a total of 51,878,882.

DR. HILLMAN HEADS METHODIST BODY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 6.—(AP) Dr. J. N. Hillman, president of Emory and Henry college, Emory Va., was elected president of the Educational Association of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, at the final session tonight of the eleventh annual meeting of the association.

The findings committee of the association, reporting at tonight's session on the merger proposal, urged close study of the plan.

The committee expressed concern at revelations made by Dr. F. W. Laddford, secretary of the general board of education of the Northern Baptist church, of an apparent desire to merge the two churches, and held that church colleges "have a right to expect continued and increasing moral and financial support from the church."

Dr. Laddford was a speaker at a dinner meeting of the association held last night.

The board of education group of the association elected R. R. Ellison, of Savannah, Ga., as R. J. York, of Morris Harvey college, Radford, Va., was elected vice president; Dr. Elam F. Dempsey, Oxford, Ga., secretary, and H. Bascom Watts, of West Texas conference, treasurer.

Dr. J. M. Culbreth, of the general board of education, told the junior college group that "the fighting front of creative work in education seems to be rapidly shifting to the junior colleges."

The Southern Methodist church has 22 such institutions, he said, with an endowment of $1,297,765 and an indebtedness of $706,400. An endowment of $3,708,038 is needed, he said.

Dr. C. M. Dannelly, president of Kentucky Wesleyan at Winchester, Ky., was elected vice president; W. E. Hogan, Nashville, Tenn., was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

E. M. Stanford, president of Lon Morris college, Jacksonville, Texas, was elected a member of the executive committee. He will succeed Rev. E. A. Taylor, of Russellville, Ky.

The board of lay activities of the church will meet tomorrow to discuss legislation to be presented to the general conference which will meet in Dallas, Tex., in May.

Purse Snatching Reported

Miss Elizabeth Sheppard, of 691 Juniper street, N. E., reported to Call Officers Charlie Floyd and W. C. Fletcher Thursday night that her purse containing $15 in cash, a check book, a key ring and other small articles, was snatched from her, near her home, by a negro man. The purse was taken on Forsyth street from a street car and started walking towards her home.

PSITTACOSIS SERUM
Believed Found

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 6.—(AP) Serum developed by the state health department from the blood of persons who have practically recovered from psittacosis was believed to be an attempt to save the life of Dr. William Royal Stokes, chief of the bureau of bacteriological diseases of the health department, who is seriously ill from the parrot fever.

The serum is being made from the blood of three persons at Annapolis, where the disease had appeared in the United States. Health authorities believe that persons having suffered from the fever are immune thereafter.

Dr. Stokes took an active part in attempting to combat the spread of the fever in the state. He handled many of the birds, believed infected with the disease, in an effort to gain definite knowledge of the malady.

Health officials said that it will be the first time immunized blood has been used in making serum, which may be effective in combating the fever for which no definite treatment has been evolved.

POLA IN TROUBLE

BERLIN, Feb. 6.—(AP) After several years' absence from the city where she first achieved film success, Pola Negri, American screen star, returned to Berlin today only to get into hot water with the courts.

Sans Ruchman, theatrical agent, secured a writ of attachment whereby the courts sequestered Pola's jewelry to the extent of 50,000 marks (about $12,000). Ruchman claims he negotiated the screen star's American contracts, for which she failed to pay the stipulated commission.

Sans Ruchman then handed over to a court attaché her diamonds and rubies she and her husband, Prince Midval, departed for St. Moritz, Switzerland.

Too Many Clothes.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Feb. 6.—(AP) Ernest Thompson, 19, Hickory, N. C., arrested here when he was discovered wearing three shirts, four pairs of trousers, two coats and two overcoats, admitted today to detectives that he recently robbed an Indianapolis dry cleaning store and obtained the clothing.

CHICAGO NEEDS 5,000 MORE POLICE, HEAD SAYS

Commissioner Says Crime
"Not Bad," Considering
Handicap.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—(AP) Police Commissioner William Russell said today that Chicago's present crime situation as bad "when it is considered that the police are not being paid and 5,000 more men are needed to properly protect the community," according to his comment last night in connection with the seven slayings and two gang attacks within the last week.

He blamed lawlessness in Chicago, "as in the nation," on prohibition, explaining that bootleggers and racketeers, having no recourse to the established law, "settle their differences with guns and bombs."

"I haven't heard of any recent person being killed," he said. "As for bombings, there have been two convictions and 14 arrests under State's Attorney Swanson, and that's more than there were for 20 years previous to his incumbency."

"We can't stop bombings because the victims refuse to co-operate with us. Most of those people know just as do the hoodlums and gangsters who are shot down, why they 'got it,' but they won't tell police."

GEORGIA TECH BOY SLASHED BY NEGRO

Frank Tharpe, of 33 North avenue, Georgia Tech student and brother of Mack Tharpe, former Tech football star, reported he was slashed about the face by one of two negroes who stopped him late Monday night, according to police reports.

Removed to Grady hospital for treatment, Tharpe said that as he neared Linden avenue and Peachtree street, two negroes stopped him and asked for a match. Tharpe said he struck one of them with his fist and as he darted between them to escape he was cut with a knife.

Frost Bite Causes Death of Victim

Q. E. Moore, 56, of 281 Central avenue, former hackman, died early Thursday at Grady hospital of septic poisoning, which set in after his toes were frost-bitten while he plodded the streets in search of work during the recent snowfall. Moore, who was a bachelor, with no known relatives, is said to be the first person to succumb to such an affliction in Atlanta. Funeral arrangements had not been made Thursday night.
